To Amy my Beloved and to my beloved Brother both in blood and in Christ I am glad you changed your mind, I am proud of you and yours! You are the very meaning of excellence - Love, Michael your big brother

PREFACE

To: Amy

Definition of Tao: The one or ultimate way in the Universe. This being said, Michael as an American and being one who is sworn to defend the Constitution against all enemies foreign and domestic knows and respects many ways. It is only through careful examination of the many that Michael has found himself worshipping (alongside others and their way) one way, one truth, and one absolute. That is that he whom he chooses to call God the father (EL) and he calls him by name, is the ultimate being of the Universe; one he comprehended only slightly in the beginning but one that he comprehends more and more as every day passes. That he has many sons and daughters in mankind the first and most prestigious of them being who we call and may worship as Jesus the Messiah, Christ or in Hebrew – Yeshua. That Jesus is his firstborn and is set slightly above the angels; and with this comes the rights of the firstborn; the rights of a big brother and in the father's place the rights of a father. And that he came as a man to equal the playing field; man made in the father's image always have been separated from their origin and place beside the father; made right by Jesus' being. This is what I know by way of prayer and meditation on him, and also what has been passed unto me. 29729

CHAPTER 1

The day was cool and wet as Michael prepared for the celebration. The pork was cut, the blood drained and bottled in wine bottles, the hogs to be roasted over an open flame. The steers were butchered at the local meat processing plant and were cut into steaks and ground beef as Michael was expecting company of a large nature. The bottles were to be the vessel of the blood that the men and women of Michael's church were about to paint on their meeting house door. The need for blessing the meeting place required one of a traditional nature that in reality had no guarantees. Only in the book did this have weight and of course in belief by those that chose to believe. The pork blood was substituted for the ram's blood because it was necessary to bless the meat.

(Lev 8:19)*

19 and Moses slaughtered it. Then Moses took the ram's blood and splattered it against all sides of the altar.

Acts (10:9-20)*

9 The next day as Cornelius's messengers were nearing the town, Peter went up on the flat roof to pray. It was about noon, 10 and he was hungry. But while a meal was being prepared, he fell into a trance. 11 He saw the sky open, and something like a large sheet was let down by its four corners. 12 In the sheet were all sorts of animals, reptiles, and birds. 13 Then a voice said to him, "Get up, Peter; kill and eat them."

14 "No, Lord," Peter declared. "I have never eaten anything that our Jewish laws have declared impure and unclean.*"

15 But the voice spoke again: "Do not call something unclean if God has made it clean." 16 The same vision was repeated three times. Then the sheet was suddenly pulled up to heaven.

17 Peter was very perplexed. What could the vision mean? Just then the men sent by Cornelius found Simon's house. Standing outside the gate, 18 they asked if a man named Simon Peter was staying there.

19 Meanwhile, as Peter was puzzling over the vision, the Holy Spirit said to him, "Three men have come looking for you. 20 Get up, go downstairs, and go with them without hesitation. Don't worry, for I have sent them."

In reality a slip of the tongue could spoil their meeting. All the faith in the world isn't enough to stop the mischief and judgments of mankind against the spoils of people of Christ's faithfulness.

Rom (5:5)*

5 And this hope will not lead to disappointment. For we know how dearly God loves us, because he has given us the Holy Spirit to fill our hearts with his love.

(Holy Bible, New Living Translation ®, copyright © 1996, 2004 by Tyndale Charitable Trust. Used by permission of Tyndale House Publishers. All rights reserved.)

Christ is faithful to us. He made a covenant with us in the discipline of his study. And it goes unnoticed by the numbers. 39671 Like a man I know named Richard. A man who by all rights was in agreement with the logic of intelligence and who, 1 of 6 was imprisoned for fraud in 1971: A tragedy. And though he was not killed he was made a specter. Not unlike the story of Christ in any form of being accused of fraud, and although he was not the eldest child, he was a Son of Man. 39746* It is common sense writhing.

But their enemies were believers or people of faith. It is only that of a different belief; one that like all beliefs if used wrongly is destructive and what is known to Michael and his people about belief is that people will die and even kill for theirs. Michael, if pushed is no different. Justice is done. Themselves being of one of the Christian faiths, they were the target of Jihadist Muslims.

Acts (10:21)*

21 So Peter went down and said, "I'm the man you are looking for. Why have you come?"

You might be asking yourself if God El had just been talking to Peter and told him men were at his door and that he was to go to them directly because he was the one who had sent them that he might have thought to tell Peter why he had sent them so that Peter would not have had to ask them. But you see this is how God El speaks to those he chooses to; some directly and some indirectly. There is never any rhyme or reason.

Now if you know anything at all about different religions, especially the three major vessels of God in the world: Christianity, Judaism, and Islam who all see that there is only one God over all people; you know right at your fingertips that there are Muslims who are peaceful, and Michael receives them. Now we can mention Buddhism of which there are several different sects. There are the main and lesser vessels of Buddhism which worship The Prophet Buddha as a deity, and then there is Zen Buddhism which focuses on the teachings of Buddha and style of meditation but who may or may not worship him as God. In Michael's day and the days of his church, Jihadist Muslims were popping up everywhere in different parts of the world and had attacked and declared war on Michael's homeland of the United States of America and its people who stood loyal to it. 29915 Michael is a Christian Deist for the most part but because of his Martial training he is also a practitioner of Zen Buddhism which is the vessel that taught him how to meditate on the energy of the Spirit. Some say it is impossible and blasphemous to practice two religions but the last thing that Michael is would be unfaithful and he has studied the parameters of both religions finding that since he only worships Christ the Son of God El, and no others, he is in no way in violation of any religious laws. 30025 You the reader may not agree with this and one thing that Michael embraces is free choice and free thought among people in the world so you may believe whatever you like. Please do a study on this article before passing judgment and you will see your way to being in agreement. Zen is praying twenty-four hours a day by meditating on everything that goes on around you at the same time. In Jeet Kune Do, the stillness of the mind that Zen meditation brings to the individual is what allows for seeing the unseen or seeing movements of the opposition before they actually strike which can be translated to insight. It is the result of heavy meditation. [And] besides using it in combat it can be used in all aspects of daily living and business. It is very useful in relationships.

And this was the meaning of all Michael's efforts to secure lobbying in the place where what he thought of as his spiritual family worked daily to make America strong: Washington D.C. This place, the Capitol of the United States, having many faults in leadership but standing for the good of all. Namely I will not name anyone of the present and or past. Presidents take their place among their place which is in Executive Authority but not intentionally focusing on them, the great number of people elected to represent their states are who make up the cogs and whistles of the system. They are more than one man, so getting an agreement for the better of the people is more difficult than the vote of one. In some ways being of the Executive Branch is more definitive.

Any President can run on promises of change or specific policies but it is in Congress that the real work of agreement comes into play. And so many look to the President of our country to lead but he is only one man who has to have the proper setup in the House and Senate to get his ideas made into law. In this latest setup of the powers of Congress, the House of Representatives is in the control of one party; The Republican Party, and the Senate majority is made up, the majority of them Democrats. It has proven to be a stalemate in agreement. President Barack Obama ran for office on change of corruption and weak policy in Washington D.C. but only in the beginning of his first term did he have the support of the House and the Senate. People have loved to hate him on the other side of the isle but truthfully they can only blame themselves for failure in the Government where the Legislative Branch is concerned. The President has made a solid record for himself and his Administration in foreign affairs, hunting down and terminating terrorists where they are found, but has been unable to implement his ideas in large due to an uncooperative Legislature. Now don't think this is a book promoting only politics and decide you don't want to continue reading. This book is about many aspects of our lives as citizens of both this country and members in humanity.

The meeting place shall be an enormous round building built out of concrete block and steel reinforced so that it will last over time and weather. It shall be painted red with marine paint. It shall have a green steel roof, and it shall lay on private property, secluded by a long drive and several trees. Incense shall be burned day in day out to consecrate the Spirit that will go into the construction and come into the building. The Celebration of the Seven Headed Dragon shall be a new tradition that was an idea taken from Revelation and created in the mind of Michael so that believers and non-believers alike would have a place to mingle and learn once a year. Michael always criticized the churches for not getting to know the people that made up a greater number than was just in their assembly. He claimed they were like the selfish alcoholic (interested in salvation but only within their own church.) With the exception of the visitors that came to their services only then they were welcomed, because the visitors chose them and not the other way around; you must forgive the raw judgment. Some ministers and elders or perhaps just people that belong to an assembly believe that they have to preach or persuade others to join them in worship when they meet outsiders of the Church. Michael spent his whole life just talking to people and letting his colors shine through. More often than not even if it did nothing for the numbers of his Church or no one came to Christ they submitted to his word in their own way. This may not mean anything to a prejudicial man but to El it means the world. “Anywhere two people come together in my name that is where I will be found.” (Christ)

Matt (18:19-20)*

19 “I also tell you this: If two of you agree here on earth concerning anything you ask, my Father in heaven will do it for you. 20 For where two or three gather together as my followers, I am there among them.”

(Holy Bible, New Living Translation®, copyright © 1996, 2004 by Tyndale Charitable Trust. Used by permission of Tyndale House Publishers. All rights reserved.)

People wanted to be allowed a choice and this is something that many congregations have done away with in the public. They want to be accepted for who they are without being preached at. Pride is a thing of the flesh but with the flesh excluding sin we do our best works also in the flesh. We are contained in the spirit but are dwellers of the flesh in this life.

3. Yet it means not inward repentance only; nay, there is no inward repentance which does not outwardly work diverse mortifications of the flesh. (Dr. Martin Luther, The 95 Theses)

When you begin a relationship by preaching someone's faults you do not praise them for their accomplishments, and while you may feel you are doing your duty as a Disciple of Christ you do a disservice to your brother or your sister in Christ by communication that appears judgmental. Granted you may be of a forgiving nature and are merely pointing out a problem with someone's actions but it is best to talk about yourself when talking to others. If you know how, you can counsel an individual or a family or a couple and not even mention God and still turn them to the light just by the language both verbal and physical you use. It is good business sense. Michael was gear driven for the Father.

Matt (5:21-26)*

21 "You have heard that our ancestors were told, 'You must not murder. If you commit murder, you are subject to judgment.'" 22 But I say, if you are even angry with someone, 23 you are subject to judgment! If you call someone an idiot, 24 you are in danger of being brought before the court. And if you curse someone, 25 you are in danger of the fires of hell."

23 "So if you are presenting a sacrifice at the altar in the Temple and you suddenly remember that someone has something against you, 24 leave your sacrifice there at the altar. Go and be reconciled to that person. Then come and offer your sacrifice to God.

25 "When you are on the way to court with your adversary, settle your differences quickly. Otherwise, your accuser may hand you over to the judge, who will hand you over to an officer, and you will be thrown into prison. 26 And if that happens, you surely won't be free again until you have paid the last penny."

Christ was just stating the record or this is the way the system is, not acknowledging that is was just or righteous. (White Sr)

1 John (4:18-21)*

18 Such love has no fear, because perfect love expels all fear. If we are afraid, it is for fear of punishment, and this shows that we have not fully experienced his perfect love. 19 We love each other 20 because he loved us first.

20 If someone says, “I love God,” but hates a Christian brother or sister,* that person is a liar; for if we don’t love people we can see, how can we love God, whom we cannot see? 21 And he has given us this command: Those who love God must also love their Christian brothers and sisters.*

And this is what those in Michael’s Church had become – Machines capable of emotion, driven by a single motto. If there is to be war then we will win, we are not afraid to get our hands bloody. We love our country and will not give up our rights to another. If there are those in need let us help them in any way that our government can even if it means military intervention. If it is peacetime then leave us to our worship which is our sole intent else there will be war of even a greater nature; a war of words.

16 He held seven stars in his right hand, and a sharp two-edged sword came from his mouth. And his face was like the sun in all its brilliance.

This was the other Church that studies the lore of Angels; the opposite in Freemasonry is the Church of Satan which Michael will discuss. The ancient Church or cult of Satanism was an unruly and evil bunch, sacrificing various things not excluding women, men and young children. They changed some when Anton LaVey named himself the Bishop of the Church of Satan who does not really worship Satan as an Angel, having his place before God El and Christ but more so the realm of darkness and evil not excluding the summoning of other Gods.

Ex (20:1-19)*

20 Then God gave the people all these instructions*:

2 "I am the LORD your God, who rescued you from the land of Egypt, the place of your slavery.

3 "You must not have any other god but me.

4 "You must not make for yourself an idol of any kind or an image of anything in the heavens or on the earth or in the sea.

5 You must not bow down to them or worship them, for I, the LORD your God, am a jealous God who will not tolerate your affection for any other gods. I lay the sins of the parents upon their children; the entire family is affected—even children in the third and fourth generations of those who reject me. 6 But I lavish unfailing love for a thousand generations on those—who love me and obey my commands.

7 "You must not misuse the name of the LORD your God. The LORD will not let you go unpunished if you misuse his name.

8 "Remember to observe the Sabbath day by keeping it holy.

9 You have six days each week for your ordinary work, 10 but the seventh day is a Sabbath day of rest dedicated to the LORD your God. On that day no one in your household may do any work. This includes you, your sons and daughters, your male and female servants, your livestock, and any foreigners living among you. 11 For in six days the LORD made the heavens, the earth, the sea, and everything in them; but on the seventh day he rested. That is why the LORD blessed the Sabbath day and set it apart as holy.

12 "Honor your father and mother. Then you will live a long, full life in the land the LORD your God is giving you."

13 "You must not murder."

14 "You must not commit adultery."

15 "You must not steal."

16 "You must not testify falsely against your neighbor."

17 "You must not covet your neighbor's house. You must not covet your neighbor's wife, male or female servant, ox or donkey, or anything else that belongs to your neighbor."

18 When the people heard the thunder and the loud blast of the ram's horn, and when they saw the flashes of lightning and the smoke billowing from the mountain, they stood at a distance, trembling with fear.

19 And they said to Moses, "You speak to us, and we will listen. But don't let God speak directly to us, or we will die!"

(Holy Bible, New Living Translation®, copyright © 1996, 2004 by Tyndale Charitable Trust. Used by permission of Tyndale House Publishers. All rights reserved.)(Todd, person to person)

Prov (19:1-29)*

19 1 Better to be poor and honest than to be dishonest and a fool.

2 Enthusiasm without knowledge is no good; haste makes mistakes.

3 People ruin their lives by their own foolishness and then are angry at the LORD.

4 Wealth makes many "friends"; poverty drives them all away.

5 A false witness will not go unpunished, nor will a liar escape.

6 Many seek favors from a ruler; everyone is the friend of a person who gives gifts!

- 7 The relatives of the poor despise them;
how much more will their friends avoid them!
Though the poor plead with them, their friends are gone.
- 8 To acquire wisdom is to love oneself;
people who cherish understanding will prosper.
- 9 A false witness will not go unpunished, and a liar will be destroyed.
- 10 It isn't right for a fool to live in luxury or for a slave to rule over princes!
- 11 Sensible people control their temper;
they earn respect by overlooking wrongs.
- 12 The king's anger is like a lion's roar,
but his favor is like dew on the grass.
- 13 A foolish child* is a calamity to a father;
a quarrelsome wife is as annoying as constant dripping.
- 14 Fathers can give their sons an inheritance of houses and wealth,
but only the LORD can give an understanding wife.
- 15 Lazy people sleep soundly,
but idleness leaves them hungry.
- 16 Keep the commandments and keep your life;
despising them leads to death.
- 17 If you help the poor, you are lending to the LORD—
and he will repay you!
- 18 Discipline your children while there is hope.
Otherwise you will ruin their lives.
- 19 Hot-tempered people must pay the penalty.
If you rescue them once, you will have to do it again.
- 20 Get all the advice and instruction you can,
so you will be wise the rest of your life.
- 21 You can make many plans,
but the LORD's purpose will prevail.

22 Loyalty makes a person attractive.

It is better to be poor than dishonest.

23 Fear of the LORD leads to life, bringing security and protection from harm.

24 Lazy people take food in their hand but don't even lift it to their mouth.

25 If you punish a mocker, the simpleminded will learn a lesson;

if you correct the wise, they will be all the wiser.

26 Children who mistreat their father or chase away their mother are an embarrassment and a public disgrace.

27 If you stop listening to instruction, my child, you will turn your back on knowledge.

28 A corrupt witness makes a mockery of justice;

the mouth of the wicked gulps down evil.

29 Punishment is made for mockers, and the backs of fools are made to be beaten.

Their single most driving belief is that self-fulfillment comes through indulgence not abstinence. They see no point in it. Michael does not teach just one thing for all people since it is evident that all people are chemically different. He teaches abstinence where no self-control is found and moderation for those who can control their urges, but he does not believe that indulgence is a sin unless damage is done to the spirit or soul.

7. We have seen that the ability of all men of sane mind to obey God, is necessarily assumed as a first truth, and that this assumption is from the very laws of mind, the indispensable condition of the affirmation, or even the conception, that they are subjects of moral obligation; that, but for this assumption, men could not so much as conceive the possibility of moral responsibility, and of praiseworthiness and blameworthiness. If the laws of mind remain unaltered, this is and always will be so. In the eternal world and in hell, men and devils must necessarily assume their own freedom or ability to obey God, as the condition of their obligation to do so, and, consequently of their being capable of sin or holiness. Since revelation informs us that men and devils continue to sin in hell, we know that there also it must be assumed as a first truth of reason, that they are free agents, or that they have natural ability to obey God. (Finney's Theology) 41303 Men and Angels are creatures of free will. Let those who sin continue to sin for they will have their day before God El. Sin is relative to the eye of the beholder. For me and my house we will serve the Lord. (White Sr) 41349

15 But if you refuse to serve the Lord, then choose today whom you will serve. Would you prefer the gods your ancestors served beyond the Euphrates? Or will it be the gods of the Amorites in whose land you now live? But as for me and my family, we will serve the Lord."

(Holy Bible, New Living Translation ®, copyright © 1996, 2004 by Tyndale Charitable Trust. Used by permission of Tyndale House Publishers. All rights reserved.)

Rev (22:10-11)*

10 Then he instructed me, "Do not seal up the prophetic words in this book, for the time is near. 11 Let the one who is doing harm continue to do harm; let the one who is vile continue to be vile; let the one who is righteous continue to live righteously; let the one who is holy continue to be holy.”

(Holy Bible, New Living Translation ®, copyright © 1996, 2004 by Tyndale Charitable Trust. Used by permission of Tyndale House Publishers. All rights reserved.)

In truth Satan is a Spirit like all angels who can take the form of a human through the will of a man or woman (children are in a stage of growth and this does not apply) and who can be visualized as being perched on your left shoulder tempting you to do wrong, while your guardian angel is perched on the other side correcting you as you go, the goal being to repent when you are wrong and to learn a lesson. This could be applied to Satanists and God believers alike. Or simply your conscious mind in action. It is really a fight for the soul of man and it takes place both in the conscious mind as well even more so in the deepest portions of the subconscious mind.

1 John (3:9-10)*

9 Those who have been born into God's family do not make a practice of sinning, because God's life* is in them. So they can't keep on sinning, because they are children of God. 10 So now we can tell who are children of God and who are children of the devil. Anyone who does not live righteously and does not love other believers* does not belong to God.

The Fallogicians, (A name developed by Michael) which means fall down before Jesus or the Deist Church that Michael founded doesn't sacrifice living things at their ceremonies except the animals which are to feed the numbers and it is not considered a legitimate sacrifice because the food must be prepared and people must eat; what I mean is that the food is blessed with a prayer and a blessing - all of this was done away with when Christ came. These were Old Testament ways of the days of Moses. Every man for his family sacrificing burnt offerings or cooked food. In a way, we still offer burnt offerings by cooking our food, or do we just cook our food because we don't want to eat it raw? An interesting viewpoint on why God El commanded burnt offerings in the first place. Cooked food naturally tastes better and rids the product of bacteria. They meditate and converse with each other searching their senses for the almighty spirit of Christ and God EL; 41506 the Old Testament God of Moses and Abraham and Jacob and all others that worshiped EL (God the Father or masculine "the" in Spanish or in short the Great I Am). 41519 They believe that Christ is the Son of God EL and he died to set them free and for remission of their sins once and for all. The Fallogicians believe that because man is made in the image of the Father and that Christ makes his home in everyone's hearts that if you are in the spirit worshipping whether it be listening to a band play, listening to a speaker, singing praise or just getting really intense and deep in meditation that he will show himself, whether it as be minute as a facial expression or as extreme as personal testimony.

Ps (91:1-4)

91 ¹ Those who live in the shelter of the Most High will find rest in the shadow of the Almighty.

2 This I declare about the LORD:

He alone is my refuge, my place of safety;

He is my God, and I trust him.

3 For he will rescue you from every trap and protect you from deadly disease.

4 He will cover you with his feathers.

He will shelter you with his wings.

His faithful promises are your armor and protection.

(Holy Bible, New Living Translation ®, copyright © 1996, 2004 by Tyndale Charitable Trust. Used by permission of Tyndale House Publishers. All rights reserved.)

El has wings and feathers and though humans do not, we know that Angels were also made in his image. The image of God is unknown to us but rationale and common sense that is available to us from this scripture:

Gen (1:26-27)*

26 Then God said, "Let us make human beings*—in our image, to be like ourselves. They will reign over the fish in the sea, the birds in the sky, the livestock, all the wild animals on the earth, and the small animals that scurry along the ground."

27 So God created human beings*—in his own image.

In the image of God he created them;

Male and female he created them.

Nor is that the only answer insisted on for the removal of Mr. B.'s sophistry, which he mentions, p. 7, and pursues it for three or four leaves onward of his preface, namely, "That the scriptures which he urgeth do in the letter hold out such things as he allegeth them to prove, but yet they must be figuratively interpreted.” For Mr. B.’s “mystical sense,” I know not what he intends by it, or by whom it is urged. This is applicable solely to the places he produceth for the description of God and his attributes, concerning whom that some expressions of Scripture are to be so interpreted himself confesseth, p. 13; and we desire to take leave to inquire whether some others, beside what Mr. B. allows, may not be of the same consideration. In other things, for the most part, we have nothing at all to do with so much as the interpretation of the places he mentions, but only to remove the grossly sophistical insinuations of his queries. For instance, when Mr. B. asks, “Whether Christ Jesus was a man or no?” and allegeth express Scripture affirming that he was, we say not that the Scripture must have a figurative interpretation, but that Mr. B. is grossly sophistical, concluding from the assertion of Christ’s human nature to the denial of his divine, and desperately injurious to the persons with whom he pretends he hath to do, who as yet “understand not the truth of our religion,” in undertaking to declare to them the special “chief things of belief and practice,” and hiding from them the things of the greatest moment to their salvation, and which the Scripture speaks most plentifully unto. by not stating any question or making any such inquiry as their affirmation might be suited unto. The like instance may be given in all the particulars wherein Mr. B. is departed from “the faith once delivered to the saints.” His whole following discourse, then, to the end of p. 13, wherein he decries the answer to his way of procedure, which himself had framed, he might have spared. It is true, we do affirm that there are figurative expressions in the Scripture (and Mr. B. dares not say the contrary), and that they are accordingly to be interpreted; not that they are to have a mystical sense put upon them, but that the literal sense is to be received, according to the direction of the figure which is in the words. That these words of our Savior, "This is my body," are figurative, I suppose Mr. B. will not deny. Interpret them according to the figurative import of them, and that interpretation gives you the literal, and not a mystical sense, if such figures belong to speech and not to sense. That sense, I confess, may be spiritually understood (then it is saving) or otherwise; but this doth not constitute different senses in the words, but only denote a difference in the understandings of men. But all this, in hypothesi, Mr. B. fully grants, p. 9; so that there is no danger, by asserting it, to cast the least thought of uncertainty on the word of God. But, p. 10, he gives you an instance wherein this kind of interpretation must by no means be allowed, namely, in the Scripture attributions of a shape and similitude (that is, of eyes, ears, hands, feet) unto God, with passions and affections like unto us; which that they are not proper, but figuratively to be interpreted, he tells you, p. 10-12, "those affirm who are perverted by false philosophy, and make a nose of wax of the Scripture, which plainly affirms such things of God." In what sense the expressions of Scripture intimated concerning God are necessarily to be received and understood, the ensuing considerations will inform the reader. For the present, I shall only say that I do not know scarce a more unhappy instance in his whole book that he could have produced than this, wherein he hath been blasphemously injurious unto God and his holy word. And herein we shall deal with him from Scripture itself, right reason, III and the common consent of mankind. How remote our interpretations of the places by him quoted for his purpose are from wresting the Scriptures, or turning them aside from their purpose, scope, and intendment, will also in due time be made manifest.

We say, indeed, as Mr. B. observes, that in those kinds of expressions God "condescendeth to accommodate his ways and proceedings” (not his essence and being) “to our apprehensions;” wherein we are very far from saying that “he speaks one thing and intends the clean contrary,” but only that the things that he ascribes to himself, for our understanding and the accommodation of his proceedings to the manner of men, are to be understood in him and of them in that which they denote of perfection, and not in respect of that which is imperfect and weak. 112 For instance, when God says, “his eyes run to and fro, to behold the sons of men,” we do not say that he speaks one thing and understands another; but only because we have our knowledge and acquaintance with things by our eyes looking up and down, therefore doth he who hath not eyes of flesh as we have, nor hath any need to look up and down to acquaint himself with them, all whose ways are in his own hand, nor can without blasphemy be supposed to look from one thing to another, choose to express his knowledge of and intimate acquaintance with all things here below, in and by his own infinite understanding, in the way so suited to our apprehension. (Barnes Heb 2:10)

[And] from this scripture:

Heb (2:10-11)*

10 God, for whom and through whom everything was made, chose to bring many children into glory. And it was only right that he should make Jesus, through his suffering, a perfect leader, fit to bring them into their salvation.

11 So now Jesus and the ones he makes holy have the same Father. That is why Jesus is not ashamed to call them his brothers and sisters.*

That God El was some kind of man; like, but not exactly like us (mankind). 41994

[And] in saying so opens up a variety of rational and common sense, logical possibilities especially when examining healings by Christ, the resurrection of Lazarus, and the resurrection of Christ himself – such as, God came from an alien race of men and mankind's genetics is the key; just a tangent that requires consideration by all. Or that the Holy Spirit is magical and can assume whatever it likes. Or that there is no such thing as the manipulation of natural law meaning Science.

1 Cor (2:7-9)*

7 No, the wisdom we speak of is the mystery of God*—his plan that was previously hidden, even though he made it for our ultimate glory before the world began. 8 But the rulers of this world have not understood it; if they had, they would not have crucified our glorious Lord. 9 That is what the Scriptures mean when they say,

“No eye has seen, no ear has heard, and no mind has imagined
what God has prepared for those who love him.”*

Christ was faced with the beast that was Rome in his day: a beast so fierce that no one could stand before it. He was intent on doing what was just by all people. He was marked by God El to carry the message to all people but he did so carefully and Michael believes the reason for this was his own mortality, which is a question and a statement both just like the meaning of his ancient Hebrew name; He who is like God El unto himself. 43102 Christ died to release the message to the four corners of the Earth. We are faced with a sort of Rome of our own or at least this can be an ideology of some; the order and business of Government is beyond us at times. It may seem to some like a giant monster that is out of control but listen to Michael and what he will tell you. The government is the sword of God created to do his will.

The government of God. He is Ruler (vv. 26-29). The gods of the Greeks were distant beings who had no concern for the problems and needs of men. But the God of Creation is also the God of history and geography! He created mankind “from one man” (NIV Acts 17:26, NIV) so that all nations are made of the same stuff and have the same blood. The Greeks felt that they were a special race, different from other nations; but Paul affirmed otherwise. Even their precious land that they revered came as a gift from God. It is not the power of man, but the government of God, that determines the rise and fall of nations (Dan 4:35).

For conscience’s sake (vv. 5-7). We move a bit higher in our motivation now. Any citizen can obey the law because of fear of punishment, but a Christian ought to obey because of conscience. Of course, if the government interferes with conscience, then the Christian must obey God rather than men (Acts 5:29). But when the law is right the Christian must obey it if he is to maintain a good conscience (1 Tim 1:5,19; 3:9; 4:2; Acts 24:16).

Dan (4:35)*

35 *All the people of the earth are nothing compared to him.
He does as he pleases*

among the angels of heaven and among the people of the earth.
No one can stop him or say to him,
'What do you mean by doing these things?'

His mission was to save man from sin that is inevitable in man, because he was for the better part or at least in the greatest part sin free because of his teaching as a child and his one on one link to the Father. When he said he was going on to prepare a place for us at his Father's side he meant two things. He was certain of an afterlife in Heaven meant for the spiritual body and dwelling thereof, but it says in Revelations chapter 21 (21 is the number understood by Michael to be the coming symbol of the Temple and its authority) that there will be a New Jerusalem and that Heaven will come back to Earth, Earth being where the Garden of Eden began.

*The Spirit spoke (vv. 5-13). Note that the believers were praising God, not preaching the Gospel, and that they used known languages, not an "unknown tongue" (Acts 2:6,8). Luke named fifteen different geographical locations and clearly stated that the citizens of those places heard Peter and the others declare God's wonderful works in languages they could understand. The Greek word translated "language" in Acts 2:6 and "tongue" in Acts 2:8 is ῥητορικὴ and refers to a language or dialect of some country or district (Acts 21:40; 22:2; 26:14). (BE Commentary)*

For one thing, Pentecost was a reversal of the judgment at the Tower of Babel when God confused man's language (Gen 11:1-9). God's judgment at Babel scattered the people, but God's blessing at Pentecost united the believers in the Spirit. (BE Commentary)

This can only be visualized in order and form preceded by function, by recognizing our country's laws; the United States of America. The way people live and the way things change and evolve over time. The First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States Constitution allows them there to be privacy in worship as those that choose to see fit according to the covenant they hold between themselves and their Deity, and the Fallogicians believe in all religions that are not a terrorist movement. The Temple of the Black Knights is a Freemason society geared for the most elite of freemasons. Elite in action and in thought. Both of Michael's Grandfathers were Master Freemasons and Michael is of Scotch English descent so it seemed only fitting after the decline of accepted freemasonry to charter his own association and he named it after the Elite Knights Templar. He named it the Temple of the Black Knights due the history surrounding the end of the Knights Templar or at least for a season and the Catholic Church's accusations of witchcraft and worshipping the dark one: A new name was proper and inline. 30690

I mean can you imagine the implication of living in a non-free worship country or state. Today in 2012 we are still faced with other countries that have state religions where they do not allow free worship. China and North Korea are two. We are blessed to live in a free country but our rights are only realized when we practice them and not just acknowledge them in writing, because it is only through new ideas that rights are viewed differently and the rights thereby evolve. When cases are ripe they can be settled by the courts and by lawmakers who enact law. When there is no support for a judgment or a bill to take shape and become law it will never happen. By exercising our rights and even protest even rights that people don't know they have will become apparent.

The real cause for concern that came to Michael's mind when thinking to himself about who he could expect to show up at the celebration (so many will come unannounced) is that so many contemporary Christian organizations are dry communities. Or think that substance use is a sin. Michael's organization believes that everything in moderation is good with the exception of a few things that are obviously dangerous to the spirit; narcotics by their medical definition are mainly for pain and used in hospitals by doctors to treat pain. Opiates and Barbiturates should be avoided at all cost, unless prescribed for pain by a physician in good standing with the D.E.A. 30758

After all this is an open door celebration designed to bring out the spirit in everyone, so Michael serves the crowd what they want. There are many past times such as drinking alcohol that Michael allows and offers the numbers through service of alcoholic beverages at the celebration; however, Michael is also an addiction specialist by way of experience points earned battling his own share of abuse in his youth, and teaches self-control and using anything in question in moderation above all other things. He was never an addict; he only experimented with alcohol, pot, and designer drugs so using in moderation was the cure. He learned self-control which is the ninth and in his opinion the most important of the fruits of the spirit. Alcohol is not the only substance available to the crowd; Cannabis Sativa is also readily available by way of licensure to anyone who wishes to use it. It is packaged in small amounts and is of high quality so just a tad will do you. 43571 You might disagree and that is your right; it isn't for everyone naturally by any means of argument and that is recognized fully. No one is forced to use anything and it is all closely monitored by security. You must accept that sobriety is not crucial and have a say about how much you use before you can learn to enjoy yourself. You must learn to call him by a different name and stop the hate and the prejudicial bickering and knit picking. Once the law is corrected and the festival will then be protected from police interference everyone will not be so paranoid. Fear and anxiety is the cause of paranoia. Cops drive fear into the hearts of everyone who wishes to smoke and drink. You see, there is a malignancy that has developed in the people of the US and especially in Government that says it is ok to have a law that states one thing about an article or a thing and allows for the implementation of policy based on unwritten law or simply just what is thought. 28705 The idea that we should incarcerate people for using substances is preposterous. In fact in some cases of sales or manufacturing, pedophiles receive a lesser sentence than someone arrested for drug crimes. Which is worse I ask you drug possession and sales or raping a child? The war on drugs is a failure and it always has been and the Justice Department is corrupt in its sentencing in the area of judgment. Federal distribution with no state upheaval and interference is the answer to the crime question. 30816 Of course there are Cartels, who will try to gain ground because they will lose control over what has become legal, but there are ways to deal with such men and it will be easier to root them out when it is legalized. These men care about control and money and if they cannot have it they have been known to murder, kidnap, and assassinate. We must find our way to a better tomorrow. Find is the way of brother and sisterhood. It means sucking it up when things are tough. It is just something Michael says to himself. We can either exterminate these savages by calling out mean men or save face with them by striking a deal with them for supply.

“Good People Sleep Peaceably At Night in Their Beds Because There Are Mean Men Who Stand Ready To Do Damage To Those Who Would Visit an Attack on Them”
Winston Churchill

We as a country; we allowing it to be a result of; by way of not controlling the goings on of our home have failed miserably when abuse is concerned, and I mean all types of abuse. Having an improper attitude is psychological and emotional abuse. Snapping at someone with tone can be verbal abuse if it is used incorrectly. Assertiveness is the correct format and sometimes tone is associated but this would be the correct format versus the incorrect format. The only one who is in control of you is you and unless you accept that as a personal limitation or gift both you will always be a failure. What you are controlling may differ from person to person whether it is anger, eating, sex, attitude, drugs and alcohol including nicotine and caffeine, etc. We are all different individuals with different tastes and taste buds. Moderation is best. Substances are meant to be enjoyed not avoided. If you have to avoid substances you might need a lesson in self-control and choice.

1 Cor (9:24-27)*

24 Don't you realize that in a race everyone runs, but only one person gets the prize? So run to win! 25 All athletes are disciplined in their training. They do it to win a prize that will fade away, but we do it for an eternal prize. 26 So I run with purpose in every step. I am not just shadowboxing. 27 I discipline my body like an athlete, training it to do what it should. Otherwise, I fear that after preaching to others I myself might be disqualified.

Choosing to do something takes away completely your need to do it. It becomes liberty. Liberty is the right to do something different without being under someone's control. 43996 You really have to watch controlling control I might add, for that can be just as much compulsivity as anything. When you are extremely compulsive even though you are exhibiting a measure of control you are not getting the point of liberty. We are in control of only ourselves and that is difficult at best sometimes. We are absolutely not in control of others and their actions. You cannot force anyone to do anything, and when you do you negate the purpose of growth. Control leads to prejudice and stigma. Prejudice and stigma lead to hate. Hate is wrong no matter how it is placed whether it is great or small. There are several things that Michael severely dislikes or that may make him extremely uncomfortable but hate is something that will drive you to madness. Hate is evil. It doesn't have to be something you would kill over; just act inappropriately. Michael has lived in hate during a time in his life when strife was at its greatest but God rebuked him in his heart, and he repented and does so continually. [And] in this country as of today we believe it is our right to hate by way of the Freedom of speech and expression. Michael thinks of this as a blessing and just a punitive failsafe for when we lose control of our speech or our art so that when we do we are not punished for it; it can be a good thing and a good example of confidence but can also be a bad example to others, especially children. 44014

There are times when someone or a group is so out of control that they have to be contained and it is never a pretty picture. Anytime someone is forced to do something I think it is terrible, but sometimes people get out of hand. When this happens it needs to be a necessary thing not something that is abused. Michael believes that people need to be held accountable, it is just a question of when and how much that he does not agree with.

CHAPTER 4

We have unalienable rights to defend ourselves against tyranny of a tyrant which is supposed to be non-existent now that we are a free country; which does not necessarily mean one person. We can have the best leader or leaders but when we are abused by others in charge this still qualifies as tyranny. This is the reason that the 2nd Amendment is in place; to defend against control!

Acts (26:1-2)*

26 Then Agrippa said to Paul, “You may speak in your defense.”

So Paul, gesturing with his hand, started his defense:

(Holy Bible, New Living Translation®, copyright © 1996, 2004 by Tyndale Charitable Trust. Used by permission of Tyndale House Publishers. All rights reserved.)

But if the alternative is violence from, a would be controlled public then we will be under the governments thumb for all time to come. What would happen is already a known article. The 2nd Amendment states that the right to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed, but in all actuality the right to bear arms doesn't truly exist; not even defending yourself! The right to do something is thereby overruled by the police and the Justice Department and rights are no more useful than tits on a boar. Which would only be useful if nature did not provide the boar's offspring with a mother who had tits; which in itself is unnatural as is our justice system. I mean really, can you imagine a male boar 29696 with tits for milking??? And these are the things that we – the Church ponder during our meetings. How? Just how does it change for the better with the Government not collapsing from sheer hatred by the people it serves and protects; (Controls?) It can only be done by the people and they are treated like cattle. What Michael has witnessed will never be recognized as truth by some people. Some; a certain breed of people; the viral kind, will refute that the events of this story ever took place drawing on every ounce of ignorance they can muster to call out what they want to say to refute it; oh they know someone or they asked... people who only believe that the government is capable of good and that they do not lie. The kind of people who trust the police enough to call them when they see something they believe in their minds to be suspicious; sometimes on their very own. Truthfully their not qualified (as paranoid as they are) to declare something suspicious because to them everything is suspicious. It is like the firefighter who thinks he is Task Force or the nurse who thinks she is a detective or the doctor who thinks she is a mandated reporter of minute details that are doctor patient privilege. Michael's advice: choose the profession that you want and stick to it. If you don't have a badge don't act like you do. You look foolish and paranoid. Just ask for a reference. You are a control freak. 44561

I would also like to discuss my hope for a more stable and responsible government at this juncture as I am a progressive critic and not intentionally negative. What I believe in and what is, are now as we are, two different things. Two things separated by the people and the government both. They are both the root of the problem. Neither one is accurate. Both are pushy. One is the severing. One is the head. One is the meat. One is the potatoes. One is the cheese. One is the popcorn. When we call for supper they both want to eat but no one wants to cook, and when I say cook I mean get down to business. In a recent tweet to Dana Perino, my colleague voiced his opinion about congress and their unfailing ability to put Band-Aids on severe cuts rather than passing real problem solving legislature. On the other hand (can I have a side bar please your Honor) the public is only full of rhetoric that definitely expresses their agitation but offers no winning strategy for anyone to use to gain victory. (Just my opinion) Again with my opinion; I know government can work, it is only a matter of will. [And] I do not fear a moderately large government because of my opinion that government can work and also I know that a larger rather than smaller government under the right course of planning can achieve the needs that the country as it is before us has. A real common sense type approach to big government, even though I can hear the chatter concerning it and its ultimate regulating encroachment. I know in my heart of hearts and also in the soundest part of my mind that it is what this country needs to win. I do not fear what can be controlled and although I hate control, government is something that needs it.

I am alright with programs like PRISM and any other top secret plans to avert terrorism and infiltration of our intranets, internet and borders by an unwanted nation, namely a terrorist or communist entity or by terrorist individuals who seek to visit damage. I hope to see Edward Snowden prosecuted for treason. But with certain power comes certain responsibility to accountability. These programs should only be used for reasons as such, not to spy on America's private business. A dirty search is a dirty search is a dirty search; Michael knows how it is done and there is a process. You see as of now we have a man of integrity at the helm and he is; stand up if you hear your name called brother; doing a fine job. He gets the brunt end of the stick and bull a lot because we live (and I'll break it down) in a country that is uncertain at best, people not knowing how long a job will feed them and pay their rent or mortgage. They wanting obvious wants and having needs seek to fulfill their desires. They want what is so prominently purposed which is the almighty American Dream. They looking into their significant others eye's and feeling obligated take out loans and savings withdrawals to purchase their dreams all but known to them they don't have to to get respect or at least they shouldn't. They not knowing when the bottom will fall out. They who are pissed with no answers when there aren't any really good ones. This has and will become government's primary goal; to make sure they stay afloat and even on a good day making a decent wage – making sure the bottom doesn't fall out. All this talk of government shutdown is futile. They're playing games with numbers that affect all of us. We must secure our state of National Security above all other things; on the battlefield, in our banks and in our homes. Especially in our homes and in they that are being raised up there. People have no one to save them in a time when we could use a hero so they play two different games: the false pride game and the blame game with the President and others responsible in State and Federal offices. This just cannot be. This eats at Michael's insides because he knows from experience that it is never one man's fault; it is systematic failure to come together and this is a tried fact. Michael is extremely conservative about things such as family values and family in general. He is middle of the road on several articles of interest; such as he has a manner that is bipartisan when he needs to be. He also is able although always ready to discuss, to be very one sided when there is no other alternative as when it is a matter of sheer right and wrong and to agree with certain party would be to go against the better judgment he has worked so hard to cultivate. This in itself being argumentative so in saying it is a matter for debate every time. A lot of what settles debates is a strong leadership coming from wherever it must. 29361 When times call for leadership the spirit of a leader is called upon from the deep. It is a spirit of energy, understanding, and of candor, not cutting down and diminishing. 29391 It is the Holy Spirit that lives within us that commands us into action. It is just that so many times we listen to the wrong spirit and behave like children. Other times we may actually contribute to something productive but to be on the path of doing it right every time is glorious to achieve. But there is a problem with this notion! We start to do well and then we become complacent with our duties so we constantly are battling personal bests and personal failures. When you become almost compulsive (and this too can be dangerous to self) in your “paying attention to detail” you can achieve great things. Brother Barack, the 44th President of the United States is all about change but not even the power of Executive Authority can change some things or can it? I mention the President several times throughout this manuscript and I really don’t know him but only by his number. That is by his heart! So I can say I know of him and his kind. He is a noble man; a man of honor and integrity. He gets the job done. He knows the importance of secrets. He is not perfect but through his intentions he is made blameless in the sight of at least Michael. You only need just one person who believes in you and last time I checked he had several thousand. That was sort of a side note but anyway; back to the party.

There are going to be plenty of specialists that are members of the Church such as doctors of all kinds who are at the celebration so if anything was to go wrong, say for example someone was injured or got sick it would be handled and of course the most extreme of circumstances would be planned for in advance. There will be an ambulance standing by throughout the duration of the celebration. You see Michael is a dialectic thinker; he tries to cover every angle. 29055 There are also a number of security details on duty around the clock in rotation hired out of Michael's very own security company. 30899

The event is a ten day event and while many stay for the entire ten days others are recruited to come from roll out to roll up. The celebration is held during the period between October 21, and Halloween with Halloween being the last day. Michael believes and teaches that the spirit is greater in fluidity and strength of communication when it is lubricated a bit; not too much, just a bit. Michael compares this to the oh so common stories of being more inhibited by such things such as anxiety and being able to overcome fears of being social. There are many comical moments during the course of the celebration due to slight inebriation, and of course laughter. The lessons that are prepared by the speakers are based on natural order, natural law, and our place in it. Since the teaching of deism fundamentally speaks only regarding Christ and his teachings that is the focus of anything religious that is said throughout the celebration and it is only for those that wish to hear it; it isn't forced on anyone. However, Michael studies the Bible in its entirety and promotes people's learning lessons from it every chance they receive. Michael communes daily with the Lord in prayer and meditation asking for strength, wisdom, clarity, insight, the strengthening of his spiritual gifts, the revelation of spiritual gifts in others and of course he prays for his family and those who are in the world. One must read the scriptures and pray them in relativity if one hopes to grow in wisdom and insight. A Secret Agent must study in the ways of Secret Agents if he or she is to excel in their field. A blacksmith must practice with his or her hammer as a carpenter must practice his mathematics.

There are live Christian bands throughout who play night and day with guest speakers and live testimonials intermittent. There are many sponsors of the festival as feeding the numbers gets expensive. The meat comes from Michael's farm which is a beef and pork operation. Michael adheres to methodology so one of the things he calls himself by definition is a Methodist by the true meaning of the word. New age churches are far more popular than the Church of Michael (The First Central Rock, A Deist Assembly) and the Rock started very small and has far fewer members but size doesn't matter to Michael because he knows the numbers will increase for that was his prayer to the Lord and he will answer. But the weight of those that call themselves members is astonishing compared to that of the norm in Christian churches of today because they are more selective of their flock. For example there are many who study the law who are Fallogicians as it is common practice for a Fallogician to be schooled in the trade and art of law. It is taught in classes to the youth so that they will not be buffaloeed by dirty police officers when they grow up. There are many artists who call themselves Fallogicians because art runs in a Fallogicians veins. The Arts both light and dark are primarily taught as common lessons in the Rock because secrecy, security, and loyalty are treasured beyond all other things and they also believe in protecting themselves, their families and their interests. If an application is applied it must encompass the entire area of interest and not merely present itself as - this will be sufficient and look good on the surface of things. The Church of Michael prides itself in being extremely and deadly accurate so that there will be no attack that will destroy it if the opposition tries to.

The problem with the Bible and it, if you realize what I am about to say isn't a problem really; just something to be added in by an author at a later date is, people who study it for the greater number just don't know how to read it because they have trouble reading very simple text that purposes a very complex thought while all the time in their special place they believe without a doubt complex though they are missing the simple part and believe they know what it says. Then there is the God spoke to me version, or I know what God means which reinforces what is thought though God does speak to people. Michael has an answer for this phenomenon but you might not accept it as the truth; God is illusive to most in a direct way but very direct at the same time so if you are aware you are speaking with the almighty, you might be very careful and listen very closely examining all. Drugs only make this more complex. I only mention this because drugs are so prevalent in this day. There is a theory that you should not seek enlightenment while using drugs but if you have ever used drugs you are aware that they are rather enlightening. It is a catch 22. It is just like this Michael states; when you have a first notion or feeling or thought some would say this is the clearest notion, while if you are an experienced thinker you know that several notions in a flash may prove useful. The secret is the bible was written in the same tongue or dialect that Jesus spoke in; in metaphor in a lot of places. Michael believes we need to pay attention more when we read and not focus on so much of what others believe the bible says such as in a church body setting where there is usually a teacher instructing others, but refining our own reading skills so that we may have a one to one connection with the Word. Only after everyone has read something can they truly know what it says and this is done through the spirit.

1. Be directed, in order to your acceptably performing this duty, to repent of your sins, and turn to God. If you have not a work of conversion wrought in you, you will do nothing to any purpose, in this work of praise. An unconverted person never once sincerely or acceptably praises God. If you would do the work of the saints in heaven, you must be, not only in profession, but really, one of their society; for there are none else can do their work. As in the verse following the text: "And they sung as it were a new song, before the throne, and before the four living creatures, and the elders; and no man could learn that song, but the hundred and forty-four thousand, which were redeemed from the earth." A hundred and forty-four thousand is a mystical number for the church of God, or the assembly of the saints, or those that are redeemed from the earth. (Edwards Works V2)

(1.) The Spirit strives in his messengers with sinners. They coming on his errand, and not their own, he voucheth the faithful counsels, reproofs, and exhortations which they give us as his own act. [What] Noah, that preacher of righteousness, said to the old world is called the preaching of the Spirit, 1 Peter 3:19. The pains that Moses, Aaron, and other servants of God took in instructing Israel, is called the instruction of the Spirit, Neh 9:20; so that when the word, which God's ministers bring in his name, is rejected, the faithful counsels they give are thrown at sinners' heels and made light of; then do they strive with the Spirit, and wrestle against Christ as really, as if he visibly in his own person had been in the pulpit, and preached the same sermon to them. When God comes to reckon with sinners, it will prove so.

There is another part to this section not included in the regular proof and comes from knowledge of the word and its scholars and it is:

False messiahs. The pages of history are filled with the tragic stories of false messiahs, false prophets, and their enthusiastic but deluded disciples. Jesus warned about false prophets (Matt 7:15-20), as did Paul (Acts 20:28-31), and John (1 John 4:1-6). There is something in human nature that loves a lie and refuses to believe the costly lessons of the past. Mark Twain said that a lie runs around the world while Truth is putting on her shoes! How easy it is for spiritually blind people to follow popular leaders and gullibly accept their simple but erroneous solutions for the problems; of life. (BE Commentary)

Michael is a messenger of El. He has always felt the spirit at work in his life. It has taught him everything concerning mankind that he needs to know to understand their ways. His name is these days a common one but is a very old Hebrew name that means “He who is like God El unto himself” and it is a question and a statement both. He understands his name’s meaning to be aimed at the wandering of the soul along with the body as it travels to and fro in life, searching for the existence of God and at the same time knowing there is a creator and that natural law is what his order is. He is a function of life. The name was given to him by his mother. She named him after Michael Baryshnikov, a Russian dancer and there is no part of his name that is of his Father except his last name. Jesus was named by his mother and told to do so by an angel but his name was not his father’s. Michael named his first son after he by the rule of his own. He would teach him the meaning of his name and make him ponder it God like as mankind is in nature as he would embrace the meaning of his name in Hebrew, both in temperament and in love. It occurred to him at a very young age that he was alone without the father in heaven. It occurred to him so much that things all around him turned as if they were magical and mystical. Whatever he touched would surely be valuable or regrettable.

Because he was imperfect as young men are, many things he touched withered and he regretted. Sometime in his early thirties he mastered the touch but it is unclear to him how this happened. He just woke up one day and his head was clearer than it had ever been and his confidence was unshakable. As it was, most of the time it was just the will of EL whom people refer to as God. [But] God is such a broad term in this day that Michael became resolved to call him by his Hebrew name EL after he became a Black Knight of the Temple, after he began worshipping and practicing Christ like Masonry; Light and Dark Masonry.

His first love was a girl named Carina Welsh but he only loved her as a child loves. He loved her like a sister. The woman he became engaged to in his 19th year was thirteen years old when they met and he was a year older than she and he loved her from the word go. During what was to be the first of the Ten Days of the Dragon he kissed her. He commemorated the celebrations beginning to her kiss. This was in 1991. He made the mistakes that boys make until he became a man and then he made the mistakes that men make. He was very charming. He had the ability to hide himself from people; both friends and enemies by using faith as a weapon and becoming a practitioner of deceit, but he only used it to protect him from foe or to avoid the stuff that he couldn't talk about at first. You are surely aware of painful memories. 28772 It is this that he refers to as the Black Arts of Christ like Masonry, and it is what he teaches his disciples. He is calling his people to the celebration of the Dragon through the Rock for a gathering to match all gatherings. Christ is known for his sermons and Michael calls upon Christ to speak through him. He is his gateway to Heaven. Many people believe that before Christ came to be human he was the Angel of the Lord, but this is not true. The Angel of the Lord is El. Psalms 91:4 30950 The Master Mason that trained Michael he first met in February of 1996; his name was Christian and Michael believed he was the Archangel Gabriel in disguise, or at least that was the lore that originated from it . He had the face of an angel (He was several years older than Michael but looked like a young man Michael's own age.) You know how certain people's personalities just grab your attention. He had the IQ of a genius and Attention Deficit Disorder to boot; a learning complex more than a disability really, but nevertheless he was highly intelligent. He was versed in physics, chemistry, and several medical books he had collected. All self-educated. He storied a lot of the time. The kind of stories that are meaningful and symbolic but not necessarily true and factual. From Master to Apprentice; it was almost like Michael and Christian could read each other's minds. Christian taught Michael the arts of the highest degree. He was planted there to befriend Michael.

He shared his secrets with Michael and Michael with him, for without trust we have only lies. One lie told to another under the bond of trust is as sinful as murder in El's eye. But trust is earned not just given to authority, unless you are under orders and that is something that is seriously wrong with America.
It is all about mutual respect and allowing that respect to cultivate. So many times in Michael's childhood and young adulthood he thought he was friends with someone and it turned out to be a hoax. Granted adults should be more mature than young adults and children but then again Michael has had some pretty awful experiences with grownups and some of those grownups were supposed to be servants of mankind.
What you want to find you'll never find looking with your five senses alone. It takes ability to have the sixth sense and that is found through the process of prayer and meditation.

To see things with your third eye is to have total knowledge. Michael says it applies to the realms of church as well; priest to priest, and priest to apprentice. It is a learned behavior and some don't learn very well. We can all learn it is just a matter of how much, how fast, and how thorough. Michael says it's their pride that keeps them in the dark either that or they're not able and in that case it is excusable. What you need to succeed is to be of humility. He boasts only of the Lord and what he has made of him. 45165

The freedom of worship has declined over the years and especially anything that could be called or seen as an occult. Next remark in parenthesis (Revert to what the LORD said in Revelations concerning letting people continue. This is of course as long as it is within reason.) Michael was taught early on in his church that Mormons are an occult and no one raids their services or puts them in cuffs unless you're talking about the FLDS. Michael believes that all religious experiments are an occult and that only those that the government approve of ever see the light of day. Do you want to know what they say about the churches in Washington D.C.? I will tell you for I can see their hearts. Government is bigger than any church or church belief and you can go to the records if you don't believe me on this one, Federal judges are ever more so approaching the danger zone with their decisions on freedom of the first amendment. An atheist has more rights under the new law than does a believer of God. Atheists are groups who have banded together so that they may have a little or a lot of attorney money available and they just sit in wait for cases to argue, while the Christian is more passive in a court setting always adhering to the belief of not causing a ruckus in court or public; the atheists have their way more often than not. This is absurd. First of all, and you might not be ready to hear this, how can anyone look at the stars and the moon and human existence and all of the animals on Earth and not believe in a supernatural spirit. I mean I believe things that sound crazy to a lot of people but I believe them because of common sense and I have been persecuted for my beliefs but I would tell any atheist that what they believe in is actually what I believe in; science. Second, this country was founded on the belief of nature's God and man's place in his world.

CHAPTER 7

There passed about fifteen years between the first appearance of Christian and the appearance of a student for Michael to teach the Arts to and his name was Greg. Christian was in difference in age, fifteen years older than Michael. Michael was nine years older than Greg. Greg was raised in the Christian Church but was never baptized by fire or water either one until he met Michael. Just as Christian and Michael were one in the spirit so were Michael and Greg. The first awakening of Michael's consciousness occurred in the spring of 1996 and shortly thereafter in the late summer Michael had a vision that he would refer to as his anointing in Christ. This is when Michael became a Knight in the Temple. It was a vision of one being destroyed by fire and falling burying rock from the sky. There were people on the highway that day before the city of Gallup, NM, that were judged by almighty EL and his legion of Angels: The legion of angels and EL bore the color black in sign. The Believers of the Faith of the body and Cup of Christ were signified by the color white in sign. [And] All others bore the color red in sign. There were no other colors involved in the vision. The believers were ushered by the Men in Black to a loading station where they entered a stone building two by two. Pair by pair of men and women; there they were taken by electricity to the heavens above by lightning that struck the tower that rose out of the structure. On the South side of the road men in black were being raised up as if they were being grown in a garden from the head up, their master and teacher watering them as needed to keep the ground muddy. The instructor was wearing a brimmed hat that resembled a Drill Sergeant., dressed all in black. All individuals bearing the red sign as well as Michael who was driving a red vehicle were ushered towards the fiery inferno of a building that resembled the Alamo. There was a sign on the side of the road that read last chance to exit but there was no exit. The Alamo style building could only mean one thing and that one thing was the fall of the new conservatism and a return to the beginning which was more liberal; for a steadfast Democracy to be redefined and the birth of a new leadership. Texas was a state that was originally part of Mexico and is now home to an increasingly large number of Mexicans trying to gain permanent access to the American Dream. Michael loves the Hispanic people but with the power of the cartel corrupting many who are coming across the border it is a risk we can't afford. This situation is very sensitive and great attention should be paid to these people as a people, a race, an ethnicity, as a country, etc. Michael was scolded for turning away recklessly from the protection and light of God and he repented and was redeemed by Christ's blood that he was a part of just a year earlier when he was baptized by his father. It took a year for God to work his blessing on Michael and it needed be no more than that. Michael came running. Michael was riding passenger in his vehicle and a comrade of his named Slim was doing the driving. Michael dictated his vision to Slim as he saw it and Slim saw nothing. But as they became obviously closer to the dictated fiery inferno and Michael told Slim this was their last chance to change their ways, Slim said he believed in what he was told that moment and repented also. The fiery inferno drew nearer and as the truck they were driving drove into the fire Michael called out to God and said thy will be done. He was prepared to die for his sins that day. But as it became apparent that they had not passed away the fire broke and they drove out of it. The most brilliant white light Michael had ever seen shone down in a pillar through the storm clouds and he heard God say, "It is done"! This picture and series of events was etched into Michael's mind for all time and when recalling it seems like it was just yesterday.

Greg was baptized by Michael in the spring of 2011 at The Church of Christ. It was a private baptism due to anxiety of a crowd; although there was no need for the feeling, however, Michael obliged Greg. Michael and Greg were very close and Michael took him on as his apprentice. Greg was very accepting of his teaching after a period of self-testing had to occur but skeptical at first questioning everything Michael said. Michael had a saying; when you find close friends keep them close or you'll lose them to the ways of the world. Speaking of ways of the world; they are Satan's tools and if you want a strong defense against Satan as he hates Christians, become versed in the way of the world. God said be of things of Heaven and not the world but he did not say don't learn how to defend yourself.

Greg was very much of the world and Heaven's spirit both. He had a vivacious need to be left to his own business. Michael preached to him with all possible manners cited in himself about learning the way of the world and being of the way of the Holy and Great Spirit at the same time.

Money itself is not evil and in fact it is what we need to see the job finished. It is the greed of money that is evil.

Michael studied everything about Satanism to make him a greater adversary and give him an edge over the world and his brother in the world. It was through the Word of God that he honed his skills; reading from the word nearly daily for several hours at a time. This was hard for Greg because he didn't understand what was written in the Word very well, so Michael would teach and preach to him.

CHAPTER 8

Michael informed Greg once they had become close in ways of the craft of his true identity as an independent security agent for National Defense which he was recruited into in his early years in the service, and Greg didn't take it all that well though he quickly recovered his posture as student. Everyone feels special to know someone of a Red Seal until they find out that they have to live by certain codes and by laws. Michael took another name so that his true identity would remain a secret, as the owner operator of his own contract and security consulting agency. Michael always told a true lie about his training because no one would believe that he was simply a prodigy. He said he was with the TEAMS although he claimed that he was discharged before his training was complete. He was in all actuality a Team member since he was recruited into it at the age of nineteen. Mentally and in his self-taught instruction which continued after his initial recruitment he was a prodigy. He was born to serve his country and being recruited by Defense Intelligence in the service made it so. Greg had a history of crime in his childhood and although Michael fully accepted him as a trusted friend and confidant, his criminal mentality forced him to view Michael's previous deeds done for and by the law as a traitorous act. He took it personally like Michael had wronged him personally or someone he knew. Greg struggled with this ideology and after time it came to him also. To put it simply he felt threatened and he questioned his authority. Michael asked him a series of questions that got him back on track with himself as one who should act like one. 1) Did he think that all criminals were the same and that the governing of all criminals by one way was accurate? He responded with, "I think it's just a golden rule not to tell on anyone because it is dangerous and unbecoming of a convict." Michael replied, "If a grown man is making dope to sell to anyone, even school children and young adults who don't have enough experience to have common sense, should we let him be free?" Greg replied, "No I guess not - it's just something I can't ever bring myself to do." Michael told him that he would not require it of him and that the most important thing is that he trusted Michael wholly and fully even with his very life. He still had some issues to resolve between - with his very life or not. Two years later he was sworn to the same standards Michael was and Michael intended on holding him to it. To this day he is still an apprentice. Michael swears in all of his apprentices because it builds character like scars. If he had not been such a young Christian having not experienced faith that will move rock and nurtured a relationship with himself and his father in Heaven, he would have agreed fully with Michael's actions.

Michael joined the service in his seventeenth year on or around his birthday with intentions of mastering Spec Warfare and all that it had to offer. When Michael was informed that his vision wasn't good enough to make the cut he went with his second love - building trades. He made honors out of boot camp and was quickly advancing in rank much faster than those that joined at the same time. He went to A-School and was then assigned to a duty station. He was immediately befriended by a genius recruit named Christian Tyler. Christian had attention deficit disorder just like Michael and when the two of them were talking, no one else could stand to be in the room. A couple of real chatter boxes. They were both very intelligent and they were made to be soul mates from the word go. Christian was an agent of the first degree. This was revealed to Michael over the course of seven months while he assisted Christian with personal counsel and security as Christian delved into things that cannot be spoken of due to their security classification. They were both involved in counter narcotics. If Seth was to follow in Michael's upbringing he would to face the fire of his own desire, Thereby upon the word of one who is one, Michael was one by August of 1996 after a grueling seven month training session and at age nineteen he was armed with a great variety of tools and weapons of style and technique. He would spend the next 15 years perfecting his craft. He married at the age of nineteen and she was with child immediately; due not only to foolishness but also the will of God. He was into everything every nineteen year old is after plus a few extras. He stayed with that woman for six years and after the fourth year she bore him another son.

She was twenty four when Michael met her and he was nineteen but much older inside than most nineteen year olds. Her ex was an ex corrections officer who was drawing a disability check for a bad back and they had two children between them, There really isn't a good answer as to why the two of them were together much like there wasn't a good reason Michael was with her; other than the fact that they had both come from an abusive home life as children, both seeking attention. Regardless of her addition in years to Michael's age, Michael was more intelligent and wiser than she although she liked to wear the pants in the relationship; so controlling of every lie that was about to unfold. She was mentally unstable although unbeknownst to Michael at the time. He married her after finding out that she was pregnant with child and resting comfortably assured that she hadn't been with anyone else during this time, he married her outright. He felt obligated by a sense of duty. This began six years in the abyss living with a mental patient who was in total denial. She drove him to the brink of insanity and back again. He was left with a great sense of loss, mourning the departure of his fiancé from just before: Amy, his first and finest example even today of a wife. You will hear more and more about her as this Tao of Michael White Sr continues for she was the reason the celebration was being held and the reason for Michael's path; at one point in Michael's youth she was a light to Michael's path and every day that passed after that the path was made even clearer. Read this and rejoice. It's all right out of scripture and what isn't in scripture simply was never in it to begin with. 31222

Psalm (119:105-112)*

105 Your word is a lamp to guide my feet and a light for my path.

106 I've promised it once, and I'll promise it again:
I will obey your righteous regulations.

107 I have suffered much, O Lord; restore my life again as you promised.

108 Lord, accept my offering of praise, and teach me your regulations.

109 My life constantly hangs in the balance, but I will not stop obeying your instructions.

110 The wicked have set their traps for me, but I will not turn from your commandments.

111 Your laws are my treasure;

they are my heart's delight.

112 I am determined to keep your decrees to the very end.

Now let us discuss something about the Church that is of great importance and on which the reputation of the Church resides. Homosexuals in the Worship place. First of all they're just people of a different nature or makeup all of which God loves, but we know from the Word that it is an abomination for two men or two women to lay together in a sexual way but the time has come to level the playing field and make equal opportunities to be in the presence of the Father. Michael is involved in Government but he was also a Master Freemason which meant for him anyway, he was without a doubt religious and operated a bible. The Word Michael speaks must be heard and recognized with God ears and not human ears. Half the time when people argue a position they're just listening to themselves talk and not really trying to make a harmony between the two sides, and not to make things smooth as would the minister of law. They talk for their own dignity. The main point He makes is that hatred is evil no matter what the reason and the opposite of Love is Indifference. He has heard others say this exact thing but it - up until today hasn't been effective enough. He says we can't afford to hate anyone who is willing to try to know the Father. This means opening our doors to homosexuals from the world over and start preaching to the world instead of our local communities only. It's our job to love them no matter how difficult it may be. No one is saying we have to allow their public display of affection at services or functions, which would indeed corrupt the minds of our youth. But that is what God is calling us to do, not disown them or ignore them. In fact the Christians of today have grown so judgmental that no one even wants anything to do with them because they're a total turn off. The Christian Churches of today are sending the wrong message and they're hiding behind the Father to do so. Michael is a proponent of gay marriage because he after many hours of thought, analysis, prayer and meditation has decided that it is a constitutional right under the term, life liberty and the pursuit of happiness granted to all citizens of America as written in the Declaration of Independence and to ignore such an article of such a document would be grounds for separation from said government. As of today, which happens to be the Lord's Day, there are many inconsistencies in the law and that is why Michael became a Lawyer that contracts work from the government; so as to make a difference for his children and their children's children's children.

It all began for Michael in a small rural town of around 6800 people. Everyone knew everyone and their business as well, except for those who were not gossipers. Michael saw both sides of this. It was a violent town with fights occurring nearly every weekend and some weekdays. You had to be mindful of others and their attitudes as is the case in the majority of living because you were never certain when someone was going to try to go upside your head or pull a weapon; which did happen from time to time. Some people there were immature and they showed it. The town was overrun with drugs but you had to be in a tight circle to get drugs and I mean tight. The majority of substance used by everyone was alcohol and mini thins which were over the counter from the gas station, but there was pot, crank and cocaine available also. Michael had few close friends and was a brawler himself though he'd only seen action a couple of times. Mostly it was the look in his eye that kept people at bay. No, Michaels DO teaches that the way was through the middle just missing all vital organs and severing the spine at the fifth lumbar. To put it in laments terms Michael was a handler, and an operator of the highest degree. As an amateur he was exceptional with people even though he didn't begin this way; he began as all people begin, innocent. It is quaint and convenient for the soul but very dangerous in the world we live in. Innocence that quickly changed as Michael grew in age and maturity. He saw things he didn't want to see; was party to things he would have rather not been. He realized if he played the game he wouldn't have to fight although he was good at it; so he did and he did it well for his age and experience, after all he'd never been instructed concerning this path before he just summoned it from the depths of his guts and feelings. He was smooth with the ladies and that believe it or not is the secret to getting what you want with everyone. He was charming like he had a little bit of the Devil himself in him. The whole thing felt a little on the supernatural side to Michael, sort of like a past life regression. It all seemed so natural and familiar to his senses. He had dreams that it was all happening for a second time like he was born to repeat his actions from birth throughout his life; fate if you will. But what he learned about fate is that we all have a choice. Even the Angels in Heaven and Hell were given free will. Whatever the source of the feelings, one thing Michael was clear on; it was from the Holy Spirit. Michael's mother was a physician and her father was also, and this is the line that Michael inherited his intelligence from. His father was also bright always working in accounting and being a very practical person he taught Michael patience although Michael was a very impatient individual as a young man as was his mother. 17336

The first fight Michael was ever in, he started with his mouth out of sheer ignorance and lost quickly. He lost because he started it with no cause and he was inexperienced. He just assumed he would win as he sized the other guy up and didn't think of using force as a delicate matter. The second fight Michael was in was over his girlfriend and he won after he found his feet. After two superbly placed right hands he disassembled his opponent. That fight won Michael great respect among his peers. After that he had a reputation for meaning business and he quickly learned that he didn't have to fight. It was all a matter of character and honor after that, which left a lot more time for socializing which he thoroughly enjoyed. He learned to kill other's efforts with just a cold stare although this was not the real Michael; he was in disguise. He was actually a romantic, but he knew he would always have to be tough if he was going to survive along with his mate and future children which he was intent on having. He wanted to have children badly when the time presented itself. He loved kids.

He became obsessed with being a fixer and he learned everything about surveillance that he would ever need in just two years. He learned because of who he was inside not because of who someone claimed or decided he was. You might be confused by this expression because in this society authority runs all things. If you didn't ask someone's permission or someone didn't decide your makeup for you then you can just take your place with the rest of the losers in society that are told they are nobodies. I mean the amount of control that people in authority like to exert in their opinions is mind boggling, and they most of the time are considerably moronic. He learned because he was raised to cultivate a number one conscience and to be liable for making an effort at changing things around him. Trade secret was what he authored, and he knew there was a place for people like him; a place where he'd be welcomed; in the TEAMS was the place he was headed. Nevertheless what he was and had become as of seventeen was just the same mentally and he had the same views on protocol concerning crime and terrorism and above all, liberation of the oppressed. He had heard politicians ramble on about oppression in other countries namely communist and fascist countries when he was young enough to think they were heroes and exceptional not just normal people doing a hard job. But then when he thought about it, a few of them were heroes. He, for living in the finest country in the world had never experienced oppression quite like what he would in the end. He is witness to his own oppression and the oppression of others like him by the very people who are sworn to uphold the law; to protect and serve. 17761

He didn't really mind the ideology of civil authority, in fact he agreed with the notion; however he never had anything good to associate with the police. He having seen what the product of civil authority was, just simply disagreed very strongly that it was being executed correctly. Cops see the bad in everybody instead of the good. They are not interested in upholding the constitution they just want to make arrests and get promoted. There's nothing more dangerous than a cop who thinks he got somebody pinned down ready to make a case when the whole time it's nothing but thin. This creates oppression. 17461 The police dishonor themselves and their uniforms every time they make a blind assumption and especially when they coheres someone into allowing an unlawful search. The definition of the word assumption from The Sage Research Dictionary is "something no one has the right to do and it is the first step in the process of coercion." They will tell you it's just not kind or seen as cooperation. They will say come on; you don't want to start trouble do you? They are like the Gestapo the way they congregate like a family that lives separate from the rest of society; always plotting, always scheming, and I have known a handful of firemen who weren't much better. They totally about safety thinking they're detectives. Many simply believe the line of bullshit that they feed off of and that is that the law is the law, it is the law that the system says is correct and they are sworn to uphold the law no matter if they know it's a mistake or not leaving everything in the hands of the legislators who we know don't do their jobs correctly the better part of the time because they are interested in politics not pragmatics. Once someone is arrested for a crime and especially if they are convicted and sentenced they will never see freedom so long as civil authority has its way with them. Prisons are just way stations for recycling criminals or citizens who are called criminals by said authority. You don't have to be a criminal having criminal intent or even criminal thinking to be named a criminal in America. It is downright awful. Men's Rea has failed! Men's Rea states that the prosecution must prove that the suspect was intent on breaking the law at the time they broke the law in order to secure a conviction. They don't ever question whether their morals are correct because some other authority has already decided that for them, preventing them from thinking and this is just one breakdown in the system. This allows for fraudulent arrest and you may not believe that officers are capable of this so all that can be asked of you is to pay closer attention and not believe everything you read in the newspaper because police reports can be made to look really bad. It also generates fear and paranoia.

Then there are the courts, and Michael doesn't even know where to begin when speaking of them, they being so inconsistent. He believes that respect is earned and not something Judges are simply due. Their record speaks. Regular people yes, Judges and politicians no. That's just an opinion. 18,001 They have a hard time being told they're wrong because the same system that provides security for a corrupt police force is the same authority that allows Judges to slide when on their own turf in their jurisdiction. Most lawmakers and presidents and especially members of the State and Federal Bar will not challenge a judge. There is a way that the system provides an answer to its courts and that requires hiring an attorney which the poor few can afford. There are law firms or agencies that are not for profit but they will only handle certain cases. There is a solution to every problem it just takes grit to answer the call which legislators fail to do because a few of them are failures at the highest level. A few of them actually try to do what is best while others just take up space. James Madison wrote nearly all of our constitution and if you ask the law makers it's what they believe is the best way or form and it is what I believe, but it is still far from finished. It is a work in progress still to this day just like the natural laws of evolution. The only problem is no one, not even the highest court in the land feels like it is worth worrying about because complex law makes for a bad outcome it has been said although I think it is sheer laziness. They are paid to protect us and still the wolves eat us and nip at our coat tails. This is proof that we need more strict regulation, not necessarily of business but of government. Michael doesn't believe in assignation of Judges or American nationals. It's just not good medicine. He believes in making good medicine in all things. As a Boy Scout this is the example that he learned. He does believe in the extinguishing of Judge's offices and this has been done in American history. 31280

As all faithful Deists, Michael worships above all else, nature, nature's God and creator, and the laws that govern it. IE: Chemistry, Biology, Anatomy, Mathematics, and Physics.

Thomas Jefferson was one of a few Deists who felt immovable from position on natural law so much that he wrote his own personal Bible handbook made up of selections of the gospels that detailed the life and morals of Christ; minus the hard to fathom parts about miraculous healing and resurrection of the dead. This of course has nothing to do with immediate resuscitation which is widely practiced today in medicine. Once the body dies and remains dead for some time it does not make a recovery and this no matter how pragmatic and logical will never sink in to believers of the resurrection. It's no different than the creation story; some people actually believe there was a woman created from a man's rib without some kind of genetic process having gone on. There is a cold truth in Newton's law; "For every action there is an equal yet opposite reaction." Michael does believe in a spiritual resurrection of both the dead and the living; he just does not believe dead persons come back to life after they have begun to decay; that is without the aid of some sort of alien technology unknown to us. There is all sorts of hypothetical data surrounding this namely the testimony given by scripture.

Michael doesn't believe the Gospels are what they claim to be. He believes it is a conspiracy; the greatest story never told. He tried to explain this to his Earthly father once and his reply was, "but Michael, don't you feel a little like you will be scorned for your beliefs because you are going against the grain?" Michael replied, "No, I can stand on my own because I know what is in my heart and I know I don't fear it." "I have prayed and meditated on this long and hard and this is what God El is telling me is right."

Michael went for years not knowing about spiritual gifts. Spiritual gifts weren't something that was preached in his congregation a lot when he was young.. It wasn't until he read it for himself and prayed about it and gained experience in living that God El made his spiritual gifts known to him. In reality and after revelation from above, Michael was given an abundance of spiritual gifts including the power of wisdom (believe what you want), the power to speak and write, the power to interpret emotion unspoken and spoken, the power to interpret dreams and visions, and above all else dominion over evil spirits or people afflicted mentally. It was his core beliefs that made him like a rock in a storm; just like Peter, and just as the Lord chose to build his church on the rock so he was doing. He called aloud to Michael's mind (if you know this it was actually Michael talking to himself – tough one to get – most people don't understand this concept)("In His Image He Made Mankind") one evening when Michael was in the spirit meditating on all things holy and praying to the father to speak; what he really wanted to happen. Michael felt a presence in his soul and in the room and felt as if someone wrote these words on his heart; hurry and make way for me because I am coming soon. Hold on to what strength you have and I will come into you and make you strong and immovable like a large rock.

Michael was reading Revelation, Ch.2-3. Michael was awe struck and confused a little for just a minute. He had prayed to the Lord to answer him in his time of hardship but he really didn't expect him too. The Lord hasn't truly spoken to anyone in a direct manner in years. Some people think that they hear the Lord and they make all sorts of wild claims about end times, but this you will see or maybe you will not was the real McCoy. Either way it matters not to me. (. 18129) Amy would believe Michael.

And then there was the primal side to Michael, that which was wrought like steel; (Taylor-White Process) a counter-terrorist by trade and a fierce soldier to boot. He sought the father because of his primal side. He could not tolerate evil or evil men and women so at times he would get the urge to become violent and punch people. This was a character defect of his youth. This left him after much prayer. 45464 There is a time and a place for everything and killing for the sake of retribution fell into its own space just as everything else. In the time of David there were many great wars fought and many executions made and it was only in the more contemporary times of today that retribution was handled by the courts and its executioners; which was a much more civilized way to handle things and Michael approved for the most part. There were still imperfections in the system that needed severe correction and due to these imperfections many people received a raw deal under the law. The American and State Bar Associations were always trying to do their best to protect the integrity of the system and the code of the American Magistrate because what they had to work with was ultimately and simply the best they could offer at any given time. Any ruling made in the Supreme Court had to be of a ripe nature or as to say in simpler terms, it had to be able to be solved in a sitting of the bench of the high court or else hearing it at all was pointless and it did no good for either party involved. They could have tried something different like hypotheticals and educated guesses only to restate them later. This was Michael's story and uphill struggle for several of his years praying that someone would rule on to bring back the correct ruling of the first amendment of the constitution. He is still at it. He believed that the first amendment was being ruled upon by Judges nationwide in error and it had been that way for quite some time. With time comes change and in the words of the great president Barack Obama it was a time ripe for change. Michael thought of him as his brother and it is the reason for calling him such earlier in this story. Calling someone Brother in Christ is just a way to say that he respects the First Lady very much; even though he does not know her he knows the ways of her husband and that is good enough for him. It is common to welcome someone's spouse if you feel respect for that person. Michael had a warm place in his heart for the President and the First Family. He admired him almost the most of anyone he had ever heard of or met, but he admires so many he could never have just one favorite besides Christ. He ran for his first term in office on extreme change and why he was the one to do it. He said "I'll go to Washington and change things you wait and see." Michael wasn't in full support of him at first and would have preferred at that time to see Sen. John McCain win the election. Michael is partial to McCain because he was a pilot and did time for it, but he is partial to Brother Barack because he is a Law Professor and an attorney. What happened wasn't up to Michael it was decided by the people and they chose correctly I believe. Michael claims it was divine intervention on behalf of a man that towers in stature over his peers and opponents. He is mighty in a natural way as is McCain, Kerry, the Clintons and several others I don't need to mention; they speak for themselves. 45548 And when all was said and done and Michael heard the President elects Presidential Inauguration Speech he was sold. Senator John McCain was a pillar of fortitude in the Presidents first term; helping him along with Senator John Kerry to draft solutions to problems. Both still stand strong. Senator Kerry was appointed to the Office of Sec. of State on Feb 1, 2013 replacing veteran in office Hillary Clinton. This is all relevant because it was these people who were given authority to rule in these days. Michael wanted to worship the way he believed was the way he was supposed to, he needed a way to worship according to his belief system; a very new age belief system. Whether they oversaw the ruling change is yet to be known, but this story stakes its claim during their reign. Michael was determined come death before dishonor to be heard by everyone involved. That was the phrase he had inked in Old English letters on his back; DEATH BEFORE DISHONOR.

Just then he had an epiphany; most corrupt dwell where they will be best played in the game, sometimes it is in secret where they cannot afford to be seen and sometimes it is better they remain in public where there are systems in play that protect them. Michael refrained from doing anything illegal after his younger years and mistakes made and vowed to get to the root of the problem by taking up the fight in voice and in writing and addressing people wherever he went about all the issues that were important to him. He attended some time at University and in addition to self study holds what is the equivalent to a law degree although he has never passed the Bar Exam; not that it isn't in his future. and that is when he began lobbying for first amendment reparation. So he fought and baptized people with fire from above; the kind of fire that God brings with him when he is present. He blamed the media for abusing their first amendment right to freedom of the press because more secrets of the national kind were walked all over because the media demanded to be able to report it alongside of administration's uneasy need to speak to the press about matters which would be eavesdropped on from both terrorists living in the U.S. and overseas. (. 18059) Where Michael originated in counter drugs and counter-terrorism there were no reporters so this routine of answering to them on matters of national security, enhanced interrogation and much more was mucho abnormal for Michael to witness being done by the President and the members of his cabinet, senators and representatives alike. I guess Michael wasn't trying to tell the President anything he didn't already know because when he went in after Usama Bin Laden no one knew because they had a pretty good idea that he was keeping tabs on the news. This took place on Michael's mother's fifty eighth birth day. This story is a hard one to believe but rest assured it's accurate. The names and locations of people and events have been changed from anything or any part that may be real except for names that are official's. His hometown and the cities he lived in have been removed or altered to protect his identity. The only requirement for reading this story is to remain open minded because when the mind is closed and views are narrow the Spirit can't communicate with you and neither can I.

The Celebration of the Dragon that shall take place on Michael's hopeful ranch to be held every year will be a twenty four hour round the clock ten day jam and rap (old school for conversation) session with social time to mingle and get to know each other also to exchange numbers and whatever else is deemed fit between the two parties. Speakers speak four times per day for an hour during the hours of 1:00PM to 10:00PM. There are bathroom facilities and showers with running hot and cold water outside by the campgrounds. Children are not turned away with daycare provided but there is an unwritten age limit because of all the racket of sixteen years old. Those sixteen year olds that do attend must be accompanied by an adult that is responsible for them and those not allowed to mingle by their responsible party can earn money watching little ones, because it is our intention to have an outstanding youth program. Michael finds this to be an appropriate age to attend the celebration because that is just old enough to be entertained and not need taking care of after all this is for the adults. Don't think that because White Sr. invites everyone who will come and serves alcohol and cannabis that he is marketing it for youngsters because he is not; he just believes in free will and liberty in choice above all other laws. It is choice that God El appreciates. He knows you mean it. The food is paid for by donation from people who support our cause, some from individuals who cannot attend, some from lobbyist groups in Washington D.C. and States throughout America and some from anonymous donors. Michael's ranch will cover 2000 thousand acres and the Lodge will be laid up right nice in the hills. It will be constructed of logs. The Lodge will be made up of 15 large bedrooms each with its own lounging, fireplace, corner bar complete with a personal refrigerator and a king size bed. Each bedroom will have a book shelf stereo system with Bose Surround Sound speakers mounted in the two forward corners and the two rear corners. A four post bed with canopy will center the back wall of the room which shall be square while a mirrored vanity built for two will center the front wall of the room which shall not be square. There will be ample closet space for two people. The bathroom will have a steam/shower room and a Jacuzzi for two; also a dual sink vanity with granite counter top and mirror with lights on all sides. There will be a huge kitchen with three large cook tops and three large ovens. The kitchen countertops will be stainless steel and free standing. There will be cupboards on the sides of the kitchen spanning the distance of the kitchen for storage. There will be three large stainless steel refrigerators and freezers for snacks as the main meals of the celebration will be served in the meeting house. There will be a committee meeting room in the Lodge that seats twenty four; twelve for the men on the committee and twelve for their significant others to join them if they so desire. Granted not all committee members may have a significant other either in spoilage or in accompaniment. The floors will be hardwood with a center rug spanning the majority of the room. The rooms are oblong for acoustics purposes. There will be a large finished basement where there will be seven billiards tables;

four full size bar tables and three snooker tables. There will also be a full length bar in the basement. There will be a wall and a set of French doors separating one side of the basement from the other and the other side will be used for office space. White Sr. will afford him an office on the ground floor in a circular section of the Lodge and it shall span the first and second floors. There will be a spiral staircase leading from the main part of the office where his desk and chair shall be to a nook where another laptop terminal will be and this will be where he writes. His bedroom will be above this area and another staircase will lead from the writing nook to the third floor which will grant him access to his master suite which is slightly larger due to closet space and living space. There shall be an alarm on his office door that will be set at the close of the day till morning so that he may rest undisturbed. There shall after the foyer be a great room with a big flat screen TV and a fireplace. At the rear of the great room there shall be an extremely large deck. The deck and back of the Lodge shall be on the same side of the Lodge as the circular portion of the building that White Sr.'s office and nook windows will be; facing the mountain. Here is a tentative list of who shall be staying in the Lodge during the festival: Two guests from a lottery will be drawn out of a registry prior to the festival's beginning and they will be notified they will have lodging. Richard shall have a room. Presidents Clinton, W. Bush, and Obama shall have a room if they so desire one. The head of the CIA will have a room. The Sitting President shall have a room and so shall his Chief of Staff. The National Intelligence Director and the Homeland Security Department Director shall have a room if they so desire. PM Benjamin Netanyahu shall have a room as shall the sitting PM and President of Israel if they so desire. White Sr.'s two sons shall have rooms. A room shall be left open for anyone White Sr.'s significant other may choose. It may be that these named above may not be able or may not want to stay for the entire celebration and in that case the rooms will be up for stay by payment for anyone who does not wish to camp. They may make arrangements prior to the event to stay; also anyone who does not wish to camp in the camping area may make arrangements to stay in the area at the hotel. There will be no firearms allowed unless on the person of security. The road leading to the entrance of the ranch was originally gravel but when Michael laid the plumbing for the campground's and the Lodge's water he had the road blacktopped so people could make it easier if weather turned South before its proper season. Colorado was a ripe land and well suited for beef and pork. He imported the necessary hay for the animals feed during the winter and grain. He raised only the finest cattle and pork. The spell (more of a blessing than a spell, but blessings are just divine spells) that was placed on the grounds and the lodge in particular was blessed by the blood of the hogs that were to be food for the many guests at the celebration. It was a spell of safety and an invocation of the Holy and Great Spirit whichever you might choose to call it. It is a spirit of both sexes and is all seeing and which no human can resist. Michael converses with the Great Spirit on a daily basis. It is part of his Native American belief structure. His Great Great Grandfather was a full blooded Cherokee Indian. His name was Ray and he was his father's mother's father. Michael was brought up in the church of Christ and heard on more than several occasions how Indians who worshiped the Great Spirit were not going to be allowed to go to Heaven because they did not worship Jesus as the Son of God. But what Michael came to believe after reading the scriptures concerning the coming of the Spirit after Christ's so called ascension was that the Spirit of the Lord was the replacement for the body of Christ on Earth, and was the authority of God. So, in believing this Michael separated himself and his beliefs from the fundamentalist Christians at the Church of Christ and embraced Deism and his Native blood. (27 of 53 – . 18,423 (The number of a SEAL.) 18 is the age required for service, 4 is the number of the Joint Chiefs and 23 is for the MK23 .45 Cal pistols that SEALS carry. (Just a little insight for you in case you delve into discovering what the numbers mean.) 31346 (This number means that it is agreed upon that the intelligence of a judge requires common sense.)

When Michael was in training with Christian he was exposed to a form of instruction which is something that is known in certain circles as the Taylor-White Process; the process in which self-hardening steel is made harder by heating and cooling. He picked up several tools of the trade: Intelligence, Counter Intelligence, Terrorist Negotiation, Terrorist Interrogation, Terrorist Narcotics Administration, Terrorist Assassination, and Terrorist Countermeasures in general. Christian prepared Michael to be completely independent in operations from anyone in other agencies. Remember that his oath was literal; to defend the United States of America against all enemies foreign and domestic and his Defense Intelligence Oath included upholding the Constitution of the United States of America, so he had to become versed in the bill of rights. He told him he fell under executive order as all Malitia do. He told him to recruit others and teach them his craft. He told him after he departed from his company he wouldn't see him any more after that and that he was to stay to himself and he swore and is sworn under oath to keep faithful to the republic and never betray it. He left with enough instruction to train anyone to be a counter terrorist agent. But he fell in love with a girl who turned out to be no good for him and had children with her. For now all you need to know about Michael is that he was chosen by two sides. He got blessed in the service with information too useful to let rot inside him while he sits on the sidelines watching when he could advise people, and he was blessed in the spirit of the nature of an Angel of Protection. Oh, don't be mistaken he is not supernatural. He is real living flesh and blood and could face a human's death just as easily but he was gifted in all ways possible to meet the ever changing demands of the role of an independent operative. You can call it spiritual gift. 47261 The agency was the man who he knew in Cali who was and is still his best friend; the man who was his mentor. All of this is repetitive but necessary to understand the next part of the tale.

In 1999 Michael was enrolled in university and one of his instructors who was a female named Caroline Cruzniak mentioned that her husband was an FBI agent named Jeff Cruzniak and that he was gone on two or three day assignments of surveillance and she showed a picture of him on a short video clip by accident because she had grabbed a home movie and taped over it to play something for the class. Michael saw a hefty man dressed in a tan trench coat and a tan matching fedora with a full face. And he thought to himself this was the perfect opportunity to make contact with someone who could put him in contact with his handler at the agency or the DEA whichever one needed his assistance and so he thought for a few minutes about calling him up and introducing himself. About that time Michael's middle brother Marcus started showing up at Michel's house stoned and it was then that Michael decided to go to town and find Jeff at his office. Well after he tracked down the address in the book he discovered that the address was actually the Prosecutors office and so he went inside and asked to speak to Jeff Cruzniak. The secretary returned after a moment and said that Jeff was on the phone and was ready to speak with him. So Michael was led by the secretary to a phone in a back room and He picked it up and said Hello. A deep voice came back on the other end of the line and said, "Mr. White, were we supposed to meet today?" And Michel replied no they had no such scheduled meeting and began to tell him why he had called. Michael replied I was with the Teams in the Service and was hoping to lend my assistance to you or whoever might need me as counter drug surveillance. He asked Michael if he was involved in any illegal drug activity and was his wife a user and he replied no way. He said," it is really important that you listen to me when I tell you this, I don't want you to call me back until I call you first." Michael agreed to those terms and told Jeff that at the current moment he was still in the process of getting a phone hooked up at his new place but he could leave a message for him to call Michael at his parents, Cliff and Judith White's home and that they lived here in town. He replied that was ok with him and he said good bye. About two weeks later Michael was wondering when he was going to hear from Jeff because he expected him to be informed about his prior connection in Cali and his service there where he and the others like him busted at least thirty people over the course of seven months. About that time his mother called him and told him not to come over for supper that night because Jeff Cruzniak was coming over to interview her about a complaint that a patient of hers had filed against a Sheriff's Deputy about mistreatment and abuse. Michael found this disturbing because he felt like it was a lie and they were really talking about his past behind his back. You see, Judith, Michael's mother never knew Michael was trained to be a counter terrorist and he felt Jeff was overstepping his boundaries because he was crossing him on their original deal. All Agent Cruzniak had to do was make an inquiry with the agency rep in California that over saw agent training in the ranks of servicemen and women. Low and behold Jeff never returned his fucking easy task phone call and Michael was left to wonder what could have possibly gone wrong. Michael asked his Mother what she and Jeff discussed and she said nothing about him. Sometime later that semester, about a couple of months after this incident Michael met a man at University named Michael Wedges and he invited Michael to come over and meet his roommate Tad who was probably smoking a bowl right about then because it was time for him to get up and around and go to Hoagies to bartend. So Michael followed him over there to their home which they and another guy named Brandon rented and sure enough Shady Tad McCredie was smoking a bowl and he offered it to Michael and Michael hit it of course. He was always trained to accept drugs like weed to blend in to his surroundings and it would be fine with anybody who questioned it. He had prior orders that were still in effect from Cali from Christian. This was the first meeting of Tad McCredie. Michael figured Jeff didn't have anything to say to him because he didn't have jurisdiction which turned out in the end to be the wrong assumption because what Jeff did was far worse. Michael continued to do two things after that; continue to hang out at Tad's and track the movements and activities of his younger brother. He knew he was too young at the time to be tried as an adult but at the same time he couldn't convince him to stop, so he did the only ugly, honorable thing he could do which was not say anything and try to bust as many people as possible by using his brother as a lead. This was the beginning of a nightmare that wouldn't stop for two years. One day Michael went over to Tads' and there was a tan trench coat and a matching beige fedora on Tad's coat tree. As soon as Michael walked in and sat down, as Michael usually knocked but no one ever answered - this was the regular procedure; Tad dawned the outfit and started saying what, what, and pointing to his hat. Michael knew better than to be the first one to speak in the open and ruin his cover so he said nice coat, where did you get it. Tad shook his head in disgust and took off the outfit and hung it back on the rack and said nothing – even more disgusted. Why all the cloak and dagger all of the sudden? This is not the way he was treated by Christian and instantly his suspicions were raised to a very high level; a red flag went up. It was then at that moment Michael knew he could not trust Tad. Time spent over at Tad's when the conversation was at its best and highest intriguing points they talked about all sorts of things; enough to almost fool you into believing they were close, but Tad was trying to use Michael to chase down Meth and bring it to him. Michael still didn't trust him. One night Michael had been at work all day which Tad insisted he only did because he wanted to not that it was a forced decision, Tad called him on his cell and told him to come over because he had something for him and it was urgent. Michael took his sidearm with him and was carrying his Glock 17 9mm when he went into McCredie's house. Kennedy was there as well and Tad said, "I know you don't trust me about Meth so I scored you some that you can have all to yourself but I have to charge you for it. What do you want to pay for a fat line? Michael knew this was his moment of testing so he said how about five dollars and McCredie said I need ten, so Michael agreed. Tad said wait here in the living room and I will go in my room and get it out for you, he proceeded to lay out a fat line for me over on his corner table on a piece of glass and then he said there it is, I'll leave you to your business. Michael only tooted the end of the oversized line and it tasted like the person who made it did a terrible job because it didn't taste at all like Michael was expecting; it tasted like A crushed up ephedrine tab and he blew the rest of the what seemed to be a ¼ gram line off the glass onto the carpet. He heard Tad from the front room say to Kennedy; oh my God he did it. Michael again was confused, but Michael grinned inside because if Tad ever turned on him he could use this sale against him because he was entrapped. Tad was a drug dealer, but not once in Michael's coming up in the unit he was trained in told him he could sell and be within his legal rights or else be contributing to criminal activity, but Tad insisted that he sell Marijuana for him. Michael has since found out that while this is a fact (undercover agents can sell) he was never meant to. He was a DH. Michael lowered his guard a little more after that and finally found some meth for sale around the corner at his buddy Martin's house where a contact of his always smoking meth hung out so he bought a half gram and took it to Tad's to give it to him. Michael did this once and Brad opened it and snorted it and wasn't pleased because he didn't believe it was Meth. He seemed very upset and rude. Michael was confused and refused to do it a second time. Michael moved to go to a different university and Tad remained in the town where Michael had been living and had been undercover by the definition of the word. You don't have to be an officer of the law to be qualified as being undercover and while this seems odd you may feel free to look it up in a law dictionary. Things with Michael's brother Marcus were growing steadily worse. Michael had once introduced Marcus to McCredie and given Tad implicit instructions not to hook Marcus up with hardcore drugs and he said to Michael he wouldn't but turned out to be the worst influence on Marcus when he really didn't need it. Michael didn't care if Marcus smoked Herb or not, by this time he had been smoking for two years and was an adult and Michael couldn't force him to quit, he couldn't warn him enough. Marcus was hell on wheels for a few years. But McCredie gave him Meth, Cocaine, and made him sell hits of acid for him, that weren't real hits at all; they were just litmus paper broke off in squares. Michael confronted McCredie about it and McCredie said Marcus is big boy don't hassle him and Michael exploded with anger and called him a liar. That was the last time Michael ever saw Shady Tad McCredie. Marcus stayed in town and got really bad into meth with this dealer named Rob Smith right along with the rest of his crew, and Michael asked God to guide him in his decision about what to do because this went on from the beginning. He asked him am I my brother's keeper and the Lord replied yes I am. So Michael kept in touch with Marcus who still didn't know Michael's true intention, as a matter of fact to this day Marcus doesn't know Michael's true identity as a smoker, and Marcus lead Michael to an evening event where Rob was supposed to be dropping off a batch of fresh Meth right out of the mix. Michael left Columbia, NC and drove an hour and a half to his home town and just missed Rob who didn't know any better than I was just after some dope. You see Michael made himself available to buy dope whenever it was made available to him so that at that crucial moment in just a couple hours' notice he could rush in and end the string of damage. Michael still needed to have some evidence to show the feds or the state or whoever it was that was supposed to help him finish the bust with borrowed man and fire power, so he bought a ¼ g of dope and took it back to Columbia with him. The next day he was broke and in need of a new sidearm because his had a faulty trigger on it and it slowed his reaction time down and he didn't want anybody to get the drop on him in case they had one too, so he went to the Sheriff's department and told him who he was and that he needed to contact Jeff Cruzniak of the FBI because he was broke and needed a paycheck for his contract. He said he would get on the horn and get Michael someone to talk to that had that much authority because he didn't; he was just the night detective on duty at the station. So Michael wound up talking to an unidentified man by the name of Jeff Slacker who asked him what the hell what was going on. Michael was carrying his sidearm just tucked in front of his t-shirt but slightly to the side where if seen at the wrong angle looked like he was carrying concealed but it really was in plain view and that's when he noticed it in Michael's pants and he flipped the fuck out like a schoolchild over a piece of stolen candy. He restrained Michael and removed his sidearm from his beltline and then he asked him again what was going on and that's when Michael pulled out the bag of Meth and handed it to him and told him he was in need of assistance to finish a drug bust but he needed someone with a badge to get a warrant for him, and that he was operating as an independent security agent and that his brother was in danger. Jeff Slacker; that no good dirty rotten pig cuffed Michael and asked him how much crack he had been smoking. He lost his temper so badly that he assaulted Michael with his behavior and insults. Michael was taken to a holding cell where he finished his story. Jeff charged him with carrying a concealed weapon, felony possession of a controlled substance, and impersonation of an officer. Have you heard of such unprofessional bullshit in your life? Michael didn't even get to talk to the person he asked to speak with. Michael's bail was set at $25,000 and he needed $2500 to post bail. Michael went off the deep end and was ready to fight. He was sidelined by the agency. He mentioned Jeff Cruzniak's name to Shaker along with McCredie's name, and the police report that Shaker filed was altered from the actual truth stating that Michael failed to name any officers or agents that were involved. But I know something you don't know I know How to make McCredie go. And go he shall, Michael wants his head on a pole.

That night after Michael finally fell asleep after being up all night working on his plans a jail guard named Steve came to his holding cell and reported that he had orders to transport Michael to the Hospital. After he got to the hospital he was admitted to the Emergency Room and asked to give a urine specimen for drug screening. It came back negative for everything. He was cuffed to a chair in the Emergency Room Examination Room and a doctor came in and asked him what was wrong and Michael was absolutely beside himself in fear that no one knew he was coming. So he started to freak and through his freaking he asked the jailer didn't anyone know about me? Didn't anyone know I was coming in? And he replied I just came on at 10:00 pm and was told to bring you here. I don't know anything, he said. Then Michael asked the Doctor if he understood him and the Dr. said yes you're hallucinating please take this medicine. And so he took it and he was instantly asleep and they wheeled him upstairs to the psych ward where he slept until morning and a treatment team was assembled to hear his case. The team was led by Dr. Jeff Spine a forensic psychologist and the rest of his team Michael does not even remember. There was a bible lying on the table. Apparently sometime the night before Michael was talking about his experience in baptism and feeling like he witnessed Christ's death like he was right there with him. A strange phenomenon that Michael had experienced in prayer and meditation that just happened to come blurting out because he was in traumatic shock due to the way that agent Shaker treated him and assaulted him verbally really shook him up, that was the ultimate surprise for Michal due to the fact he was under orders to defend and make surveillance for the cops to use. He was shocked at the way he was roughed up and sent packing to his cell. There was a King James Bible lying on the table in the meeting room where Spine and his team were assembled. Jeff opened it to revelations and pushed it over in front of Michael and he asked me if there was any specific verse that made him think he was a cop and he replied I'm not a cop nor did I claim to be, but this book all says to me to do the right thing. Michael finished by stating I am an independent security agent and I have been working to bring down a meth dealer for the last year. He said ok we're finished here and then Michael left the room and went out to a table where he was sitting when he saw Dr. Spine emerge from the open door and he walked straight over to the table and sat down and he pointed at his name badge and said hi I'm Jeff what have you been doing for the FBI? Because he didn't identify himself as Jeff Cruzniak Michael said nothing. He had the balls to start laughing and then he said get yourself a good lawyer because these charges are going to stick. He prescribed me 1 mg of Risperdal and sent me back to the jail to await bond to be posted. Michael's wife convinced her mother, Michael's in-law to put her house up as collateral for the bond and after five days he got out. When his wife came with their neighbor lady to come and pick him up he was ushered into the back seat and was handed his one month old son who was dirty and wet and seemed not to have been being cared for very well. That's when Michael had a reality check. No one had told anyone that he was working undercover – Tad McCredie and Jeff Kruzniack fucked him over hardcore and his wife was acting insane which gave him a glimpse of what would happen if he went to prison and left her with the kids. So from then on out it was about protecting his children from their deranged mother who was a schizophrenic and who was bipolar 1 with psychotic features. This little tidbit of information Michael wasn't aware of at the time of the arrest; he only found this out after he divorced her and she was committed to a mental institution for having a premature meth baby. The Lab said when the baby was born there was meth in the boy's system. All Michael knew was that his name was Jake White and that Social Services took the boy from her at birth and placed him in foster care. Michael wanted to die and blamed himself.

Back to the story at hand: She took a job as a waitress at Denny's and she worked that job just about every night for two weeks and then one night she just didn't come home. Michael called in to work sick and stayed home with the kids and she still didn't come home. Finally he called his mother and told her he had had enough of the bullshit and he wanted a divorce. Mind you the mission over the last two years broke him so he had no money, and he never saw a dime of federal money for the job he pulled. His mother said she would be right down with money for him to rent a car so he could get to work and that she would take the children home with her. So she did as she said she would. 31540 The next days came and went and still no return of the wife. Michael filed a missing persons report with the police department and changed the locks on the doors so she couldn't get back in. finally on the sixth morning Michael was asleep on the couch and he heard keys jingling at the door and he went and jerked the door open and grabbed the car keys out of her hands. She looked haggard. She had been out all week smoking using drugs and drinking and all she could say as she wouldn't look him in the face is I think I need to go to treatment again. Michael said the hell if I'm waiting on you, it's time for you to pack your things and leave. He said I'll drive you to Iowa where your family lives and then I'm history. I want nothing more to do with you he said. She whimpered and faked a cry a little until he told her she had about twenty minutes before he was leaving and she got up off her dead ass and grumbled and cussed him. So he took her to Iowa. Then he had to go back to work. He was working at this small really busy gas station as a clerk and working all-nighters which were ten hour shifts. He was so geared up in the morning and depressed that when he would get off shift in the morning he would drink Screwdrivers until he could sleep and then he would sleep all day and get up and repeat the day.

He told his lawyer everything that was truthful about his situation and the lawyer, James Rooster said there was no way we could use that defense because no one would corroborate his story who was an agent, and he said he would try to get Michael's charges dropped. The prosecutor immediately asked the court for a psychological evaluation and the court granted his request. It was Dr. Spine for a second time and he failed Michael and declared him incompetent to stand trial. So Michael was committed to the State Hospital for a time until he could be evaluated and tested to see if he really was incompetent to stand trial.

The State Hospital

Michael lived at the State Hospital for a period of six months. He was placed on every drug known to man and suffered temporary neural damage from being the subject of malpractice. Dr. Punjab was the shrink there at the state facility and it is he who should be sued. After Michael was released and found completely competent to stand trial making Spine the next to be sued, Michael's mother said he showed symptoms of Cerebral Palsy just as if he actually had it as a result of the side effects from the Haldol and other antipsychotics they had placed him on. Apparently what he thought was courageous and honorable was in fact unstable and psychotic according to the report that Spine filed with the court. She weaned him off the Haloperidol or Haldol and the Geodon and the Neurontin and a few others to the point where he was functioning normal again. It took him a year to recover from those regiments of meds. He was told if he pled guilty to his charges he would get accepted into a new Mental Health Court Program and receive a two year deferred sentence and then his record would be clear. Michael was so snowed from medication he was unable to defend himself so he took his attorney's advice which was shit on a stick, and plead guilty to two felonies, misuse of a firearm and felony possession. He has been a convicted felon ever since 2005 even though the alleged crime took place in 2001 due to a lousy problem he had with his probation officer. He graduated from The Mental Health Court System with honors and even earlier than planned. And all he had to do was either file for disability which is not what he desires still to this day, or hold down employment for six months and he would have gotten his deferred sentence. But he was taken advantage of and raped mentally by the system that so many of you are so proud to represent. He can't fucking stand all you do good people who honor the D.O.C. and hates everyone who thinks they are better than him. And don't take the curse lightly. He would call those same people sons of bitches or bastards rather, but that would be disrespectful to their mothers and fathers as there are people like Michael's boys who lost their mother or their father. Well here is another tidbit of information: He was revoked and reinstated after he was denied his legal right to a Board of Probation and Parole hearing by the bench and the District Attorney who had his Public Defender doing a dance. They denied him and forced him at the very notion of a threat of serving time in lockup to sign his reinstatement papers. He successfully served six of his seven years of probation without a drug one and with the exception to an occasional alcoholic beverage. It was only on special occasions like birthdays he would have a few beers. But in his last year of probation and parole he drank all the time to kill the pain. He filed for disability because he does have a mental disorder that is the truth, however it isn't that serious at least not serious enough from completing his regular duty, an independent security consultant and contractor that is. He truthfully only filed for disability because he was having a hard time finding a schedule that fit him. You see what

Michael knows is to be used in the agency but if the agency doesn't give Michael a job or at least contract him as an ops man advisor or even an instructor at the farm he is powerless and his information is wasted. What he needs is a handful of highly skilled and able men and women to teach his craft to. He realizes that using his skills inside the agency is sometimes frowned upon by those that are sensitive to taking a life or putting someone in pain, including the President. He is aware of where he stands on enhanced interrogations. He is against their use completely. If he could only have a moment in private with him and ask him humbly to consider this option he is confident he would be moved to at least consider it. It would only be him operating the process and no one else except maybe a recruit of his, a woman perhaps? A Woman medic; it plays tricks on the man being interrogated to be cared for by a woman. Chemical abstraction would be used to get him to break and tell all he knows just so he could rest. This is what Christian did to him when he broke him down and built him. What he said didn't bother him as was the way he was looking into his eyes he knew he was stronger than he; stronger, older, more mature, more intelligent, more experienced and he terrified him for a moment. He was trained in secret but he outright refuses to operate without a current blessing from on high. That would cause a serious problem and besides He has no funds to operate from. Maybe you will find it easy to replace him; maybe it will be not as easy as you think. He just wants to be part of the TEAM again (as if you can be fired) (dead is more like it). Michael always told himself he would do anything he asked of him as long as he didn't believe he could be wrong and at that time they would burn the midnight away till dawn debating it. Christian always told Michael that as long as they agreed to disagree and agreed on more articles than they disagreed on they could remain friends but at the time that Michael chose to forget him their friendship would be over, but THAT Michael could never do. Michael was relieved that he was the one who said it first because it sort of broke the ice between them and this point. Michael agreed with him and said the same thing to him. Friendship without office is hard enough but as they both were sworn they valued each other greatly. The position of holding an office is valued among the highest in the land but nevertheless blood remains thicker than water. They were both Master Masons who reload on forgiveness instead of bullets. That is unless you forsake your oath. At least this was the case as it was when they knew each other. They believed in the Temple and its integrity. They always said in agreement there's got to be understanding at the highest level of government if we are to succeed in our plans for success.

When Brother Barack spoke to the people of both the U.S. and the world both good and evil alike he never mentioned God's plan for us because he couldn't say that without being torn to pieces by the critics. (The non-believers); so it was always his own plan for us and it was backed by those others of the same manner; which never offended anyone who actually knew what he was getting at because those of us who serve Nature's God the Creator of all living Earth often claim it as our own ideas to escape the others that dwell in the dark places of the planet. Expressing God is protected by our plan for the people but nevertheless dangerous because from times of old to time not come there has been evil in the world even in our own, that plots to see the work of the Creator undone. The only way to combat Jihad is with silent Jihad of the opposite nature relying solely on the maker to settle the score and remembering that God helps those who help themselves first and who are not afraid to act. And over history they, both sides have passed ideas which at every turn make it seem that something cataclysmic is about to become reality then fades to the dawn of a new idea. They passed their ideas between each other routinely, at times coming to a conclusion and bringing it forward to the people and their prospective heads, and other times due to the severity and intensity of discussions held behind closed doors they operated in silence hoping for a victory soon to come. It didn't occur to them at the time of conception of their plans that all of their best laid efforts to remain anonymous were to become benign because the man with the Lord's blessing who searches out the truth by searching hearts would see right through their lies. Of course this is not what Republicans think at all! They have had followers who have called him the Anti-Christ. They will all look very foolish when he is finished with his deeds. Michael knows about the ways of the world and of man who dwells in it and they are dangerous in numbers because one man standing alone is obviously courageous but when a man or a woman won't stand alone they can be easily persuaded by one other or perhaps a group of others and this is founded on the common misconception that if someone else also thinks this then there is a good chance they are right. It is all an assumption. Even judges of the most high only give opinion. So let me shatter your belief system for just a while by telling you a cold hard fact. Two people in the wrong don't outweigh one man in the right just based on the ideology that majority rules because if things were decided just because we thought we would attempt at making it fair the right thing would never be one. This truth has still yet to be realized. This is just a simple equation that has been made difficult by the trials of trying to be fair and the notion that all men were created equal. It is obvious that all men should be given equal opportunity under the constitution because that is what freedom is all about but it is also very obvious that just as the head needs the foot the body can survive without the foot while the body needs the brain so there is the answer to all men were created equal, and this answer doesn't get any more plain. I can only ask you the reader to try to understand my perspective. It is not my intention to be unfair or cruel; only logical and pragmatic. In order that the country remain a steadfast Democracy, the rule of “majority rules” must be a reality. I only hope that my logic weighs on that majority heavily as a hammer on a stone.

I am in regret that America has decided to not ever again allow the pledge of allegiance in public schools. I find this to be offensive and in direct contradiction with this country's oldest document, The Declaration of Independence. You don't have to worship God if you don't want to. No one can force you to, however Nature's God and our inalienable rights to be free is why we have a country of our own and it should never be forgotten. By not allowing the pledge of allegiance to be recited in our schools we disgrace our country and the very notion that we are free and you might as well be setting fire to not only the Declaration of Independence but our nation's flag as well. You couldn't be more disrespectful to America and its roots. Your very argument declasses everything that is sacred about this great nation and all the men and women who have died to defend it. You might disagree and that is always going to be your choice but there has to be some level of preservation and integrity if we are going to continue without fail. Case closed. Thank you very much. Mucho gracias por favor. And you will know Michael is dead set on winning when he lays his hands upon you, be it in blessing or in war. Let us revisit Brother Barack. He is a light in a dark place and the Father above didn't send him here to be alone; he sent reinforcements. He has a plethora of friends. He is truly blessed. Call upon the “Bridge” for anything; Michael dubbed him after what he wrote. It’s humorous that it is the title of one of his books because that is what he is for certain.

A Parable

One fine evening when Michael was in Washington D.C. he was visiting the first family and Brother Barack asked Michael what was he ever going to do when the boys were old enough to be interested in the opposite sex knowing full well the dangers that young people face; and he replied well, we have talked about it and I am not the only source of support that they have. Michael, the only living parent of the two said, I have asked my oldest just exactly what he knows and know he is interested in members of the opposite sex; he said, in today’s society knowing which sex your child is attracted to is important. Some are afraid to talk to their children about being gay. I am heterosexual and as far as I can tell by talking to my boys, so are they, but I would love them even if they were born with chemistry that made them otherwise. Not to state anything about the mental state of a homosexual but I liken the comparison to having a child with chemistry that makes them have a disorder; I would love them anyway with no regrets. My oldest, who is sixteen, has learned about safe sex and is of the thought that he has his whole life ahead of him to experience women. My twelve year old is just becoming interested in girls but is still shy and embarrasses easily. We will spend more time talking when he is ready to be open about it, but will make sure he is ready for anything. Usually when you think they’re ready it’s too late. Better you start early and he does know some things.

The school they go to now doesn’t allow dating until the children become of adult age and are no longer students of said school: eighteen. Michael said he didn't totally agree with that and that he would like the school to allow sixteen year olds to date under certain conditions. That is they should be allowed to date a member of the opposite sex when they are sixteen with the accompaniment of an adult chaperone of an age that the government decides is the age of an adult. It should be a responsible party who will be accountable to the child's parents and someone that the child feels comfortable with. Brother Barack shared with Michael his obvious concerns as the parent of two females that he hoped they would be successful in making it to the age where they would find someone to marry without experiencing all the hardships that go along with that endeavor. Michael said after all, the state allows 16 year olds to be married if the parents give consent why should I say no? Who am I to argue with sound judgment? Of course we've seen plenty of situations where the courts have made a bad call. Michael said, "As for your daughters, I will offer a blessing upon them that will combat those dangers of relationships and it will be placed here in these bracelets." "Please give these as gifts to your children." Brother Barack inquired what charm shall there be left for my companion and I? Surely none as it is what I wish to be if my children will be blessed; I need nothing extra. Michael returned with, surely by now you know that there need be no excessive sacrifice or bartering done to receive a blessing of the father so you both shall have a blessing because if not you two, who should be deserving of one. He said, "I have the father's blessing and therefore I have a multitude to offer." "My cup runs over." So Michael presented the Chief and his beautiful mate crosses to wear during prayer and meditation to guide their spiritual journey. It is a once in a lifetime feeling to fall in love when you're of something pure. There is so much of impurity in the world and it makes me sweat every time I see it. For Christ's sake I have experienced it myself and I still struggle with it. That is the point of life; to live it with eyes wide open and to learn from mistakes. The school that the boys go to seeks to make friends of the children first and then let them make matches when they're going out on their own, they also speak in tongues and I don't know how to take that either. The Bible says it is a spiritual gift given to some but I am not sure if the way they do it meets up yo? 31717

Michael was a federalist from the start. He always believed that one law for everyone was superior to state's having different laws and then counties and cities to boot. The main reason is because he believed that one law to be the government giving freedom and liberty to all openly and freely and diminishing control. There are different laws for different states and if you live in one state where you are not happy and do not want to live there you have to be able to afford to move to a more suitable state or city. If there was just one law for all and it was of little regulation but large enough focusing on the importance of the constitution there would be no pressure to move other than a change of action or scenery. There will be a huge federalist presence every year hopefully from both sides of the isle. Michael announced that he would be after a senate seat and that he represented an independent party. He was very serious about being seen and heard as a great bi-partisan leader. He was part old Republican and part very new liberal Democrat. He had always been seen as a leader by his peers. People came to him with their problems and he tried not to let go to his head and he tried even harder not to let it drag him down in negativity. In the government's view I'm sure he was just seen as average because they don't appreciate anything usually that did not originate from them.

But he actually saw himself as better than average because he felt he was as well as it is what he was told by many who he helped. He is a very humble person and does not claim anything for himself as victory; he gives it all to God and are we not to think ourselves to the better? 31883 It is not wrong to have a well-rounded self-esteem if you praise the Father for having the ability! 31902 The sad truth is that in today's medical world a poor self-esteem will get you a diagnosis of paranoia and a good self-esteem will get you a diagnosis of Narcissism. Granted not all therapists and doctors are this way and I have known of both good and bad reputations these of men and women, however, the number of mistreatment of diagnosis has been on the incline. If you ask the professionals regarding this they will tell you that mental health has never been very good and it by some has even been called inhumane and of course like all medicine experimental! The pros will also tell you that mental health is opposite of what I reported; better than it has ever been and I am not arguing that it isn't better. I mean, where it began and where it is now is totally different and incomparable. What I am saying is that it still is imperfect and medicine can't afford to be imperfect because mistakes in treatment cause side effects and therefore a pain in the ass.

He was a Deist as I told you before so he agreed with a great deal of Thomas Jefferson's work, especially a few articles; 1) he shot a man on the White House lawn for treason against the U.S. (originating in the Defense Intelligence region this is big in my book) 2) He, as Secretary of State signed off on the extinguishing of the office of certain problematic Judges (big in my book) 3) especially the creation of the Declaration of Independence which gave us our purpose. To live free from tyranny because of the inescapable rights granted to us by Nature's God who is a living God. He was believed by the forefathers to be a naturally occurring creator. They believed he was found in nature and this is the meaning of the Tao of Michael. (big in my book) 4) He didn't doubt natural law above all other things. There is nothing in the universe greater than natural law; it supersedes all living things and religious beliefs. The truth about the Bible you need to know is that Jesus of Nazareth, son of Joseph and Mary later called the Christ and the Messiah was in fact the Son of El (God the Father). He was blessed with divine, completely natural, spiritual gifts possessing the entire sevenfold spirit 32236 of the Father. What he knew about the past, present then, and the future since then was written on his heart and in the very depths of his soul was given to him by Nature's God and the creator of the universe and all that is in it. Michael believes that to assume we are the Father's only creation is both selfish and impossible. He believes there are other worlds on which life was started; some younger than this planet and the humans and animals who reside here and some much older than us and probably more diverse. There are a handful of scriptures that refer to "worlds" that were created by the Father of the Universe and as of 2013 scientists by way of telescopes have identified a few planets that resemble the blue of earth. What are the possibilities of us someday making contact with a people from another of God's creation? If you ask Michael, given the proper amount of time; the chances are better than average!

CHAPTER 18

One night when Michael was on liberty up the 5 north camping at pyramid reservoir, he and his friends started seeing strange lights in the sky and it wowed and frightened them both. Michael and another man who was named Larry decided to drive back to their port in Southern Cali and it was around 0000 hours. Side note: You see there's some confusion in the ranks on the proper way to find God; let me tell you Michael's secret. In the time you spend waiting for the grand entrance of the authority of the World which usually places itself above God instead of at his feet; there is a moment of clarity among the chaos. It's the way of Morning Light and it is about survival of the fittest. Granted, the authority of the world or whatever you like to call your superiors has the upper hand and we are all at their mercy. They are a police state and they have weapons of destruction at their fingertips and disposal (The Theory of Civil Law). In numbers, they with only firearms are destructive but when used in protection it is justified. Intent is everything and equal force in defense is always the rule though if you go up against anyone wearing a badge it is usual to lose because they will kill you, while if you kill someone even in defense you can plan on being charged with at least manslaughter. When you are waiting on the possible end, or you become clear that it may actually turn out that you may go down at the very hands of the one you protect which I am sorry to say has happened before, 31982 you will either be filled with faith or you will be faithless, but either way you will experience an inner fear like no other even if only for a moment because the ultimate reality of sitting in a tiny cell or dying will crush most anyone and it will drive the mind to react in ways that are unfit for mankind. This is not true for two types of people: Sociopaths and trained Soldiers. Jesus experienced this when he rebuked the Father – “My God, My God why has thou forsaken me?” Michael has rebuked the father and he has not done it since his training 32002. Police officers die sometimes and so do hostages. Michael does his best (and it’s never easy) to control his fear and in that moment of clarity I spoke of he finds himself face to face with himself and his maker and every time he is victorious in his mission he doesn’t have to flounder faithlessly wondering why or deceive himself thinking it was because he is just that good. Was it irony, was it luck, no it was divine intervention and he may really be that good; King David was said to have been responsible for killing in the number of tens of thousands; but it was because it was God’s will. He was also a murderer and an adulterer but nevertheless he was God El’s choice for the seed.

Now think for a minute the chances of never being in a disagreement with mankind and think what it would take to win men over. Your only chance is to always act honorably and follow the code. Even if your code is different than that of another there is no reason to fight one another unless it is game time and when that is the case as it has been presented before you, you strap your nut cup on along with your helmet and you score a touchdown for the home team. Sometimes it’s kill or be killed or fight or be beaten severely. Michael has seen it go down just about every way imaginable (sometimes visualizing is the best medicine) and sometimes it's ugly; I mean ugly. When Michael was preparing to go to the TEAMS he used to practice pulling the trigger in his head over and over just to prevent anxiety if he was ever asked to; a great training methodology. But, where Christians today in their churches across the world where they gather have made a wrong assumption is that the direction of the master – “Turn the other cheek” means not fight under any circumstances is a mistake. You see, Michael has seen into the darkness and saw what lies ahead; it is darkness for the consciousness of mankind. That does not mean there is no afterlife it only means that the afterlife is not what you think it is. It is sort of like a vivid dream that you don't remember fully when you wake up, and when you come back to another body to dwell on Earth again all you have is an inner feeling of what you were before. We, most of us have been here before, but as Michael observes those around him he constantly and most times rather than not bumps into a consciousness that doesn't know where it came from and that means the link between the conscious and sub-conscious mind is severed. The Trinity lives in the sub-conscious mind. It is where Christ will return from. You can say you believe and have faith but many times it is just rhetoric unless you feel it in your gut like it is a familiar feeling you can't quite explain. When you see what Jesus meant concerning seeing the Son and the Father as one; the Father or the Son which is the same as one in the same, you will never doubt again the reason you are here and alive, and it is to remain alive as long as you can no matter what you have to do to stop death. Christ called God his Father and his God which means for at least a small part they were separate. Life is grand. The six senses of man and woman are God in the flesh (made after God's own image) and they are to be protected at all costs. Men and woman who join to defend the world from all things evil are saints who have haven in mine eyes and are volunteer defenders of our country. Does the fact that they fight the enemies of our flag make them as foreign as the tribes of my ancestors which according to the churches will never see heaven without Jesus? It would stand to reason that if there is one God overall and one Spirit guiding the people that the Native Americans know the Spirit quite well and have been in commune with that Spirit for longer than the Hebrews have: somewhere close to 14,000 years longer Scientists believe that the first Native Americans came across the great land mass of the Bering Straits about 12,000 years ago and as early as 20,000 years ago although they are speculating. The history of the Bible is only around 6,000 years old.

They were headed south on Interstate 5 in southern Cali when they noticed a dull orange light following them in the distance weaving in and out of the hills and flying at a very low altitude. They were both shocked in awe and afraid at the same time. Just then the light disappeared and they saw bright headlights in their rearview mirror. They thought it was a statey the way they were moving. It's easy to spot a fast mover. They must have been doing 100 mph or near it because the road was not very hilly and there was a great deal of distance on the road between them at first, but they closed that distance very fast. Michael and his counterpart thought they were being pulled over for speeding, but as the set of headlights approached they saw no cherries light up and the brite's stayed burning. 32471 As the headlights became a vehicle and it came closer and closer they noticed a second car running just off the rear bumper a couple feet from the front car and with its headlights off. They were foreign make vehicles (Accords) and inside each four door car were what appeared to be four men. I suppose they might have been women but Michael took them as men. They were bald and clean shaven, dressed in black collared tops which may have been bdu's buttoned all the way up. They were cruising so fast that it was only an instant when they were alongside Michael's truck, but what he did see was that the cars were black and also the rider in the first car on the passenger side looked right into Michael's eyes and all Michael could see was the shadows of his sockets in the moonless darkness and in the shadow of the headlights. Their skin appeared to be white as paint. Michael was overcome with the distinct feeling that they weren't there to harm him or obstruct his passage in any way. There was a small incline in the road and a long hill ahead. After they passed they quickly made it to the crest of the hill and Michael's 4 cylinder motor had a hard time keeping up with them as he was only doing 70 mph and declining as he went up hill. After he crested the hill the cars had disappeared from his sight. Right then the orange light reappeared off his East window. A heavy fog immediately rolled in and he was forced to slow down to about 45 mph after that. The fog stayed on them all the way home. Michael has never seen anything like that since then in July of 1996. He could only assume. His mind ran wild with thoughts that were out of control. Was there some technology that our government had achieved that would explain the hovering light and the disappearing vehicles just had gone dark and pulled off on a side road. Michael didn't remember any side roads but they may not have been marked if there were any? Or was it possible that he had seen an alien UFO and an unexplainable phenomenon in which he was found face to face with an alien life form? He to this day doesn't know to be certain. How can anyone know such a thing? Even if he would have reported the incident he would not have gotten the answer he desired so it was just best to hold that information to be released at a different time and location. He is a believer that alien life may and probably does exist on other worlds and that the possibility of space travel for an advanced scientific species is possible, but he because of fear found himself leaning towards the explanation that it was just a government aircraft and the men he saw were merely TEAM men who were either out on maneuvers or signaling him in some way. It could mean a lot of different things and the truth will not likely ever be known. He decided that he would keep an open mind and the encounter has made him a better man because he is a bigger individual with bigger ranges of experiences. When it happened he became physically ill; sick to his stomach with nerves.

At this time in his life he was infatuated with the idea of aliens and UFOs and he and his friends would have in depth exploratory conversations about the possibility of life somewhere else besides Earth and the human race. One of the more popular arguments that Michael came up with was Biblically based thought mixed with a new age funk. He said to his friends: Listen to me guys I have it figured out – We are told by the Word that we are made in the image of God, right? And if that's so then God must be some form of human but different like it says in the Bible. (Psalm 91:4 God will cover you with his feathers and will protect you with his wings.) Michael always believed in the idea of rational thought and this was rational as rational gets! God is our creator and not like it says in the bible that bam, there was Adam and that was all there was to it; it happened over time and we know from science that (at this time Darwinism was a new age thought) evolution might have occurred over a long time; a lot longer than the Bible says so what if that is true but I'll add another part: what if God messed with evolution a bit so that we were created indeed, in turn creating us from something else he created. Homoerectus into Homosapien. This was just one of Michael's early theories. On the other hand he said, what of we are simply the product of evolution and time and time again and what people are denying is creation and calling Darwinism is actually God and the creation of mankind? 33068 This was another of his earliest theories. He believed in God the Father and the Son and of the Great and Holy Spirit of the Native Americans as well as of Christianity, Judaism and other people independent of religion who believe in God. He believed in creation but the story of creation in the Bible always left him feeling raw inside like there was something lying beneath the surface that he was supposed to see; something others would agree with him on. And so he pondered these thoughts for hours on end. What he came up with was one of Earth's greatest shared discoveries! He rationalized that El, the God of the Hebrew people and the God that he believed was the one true God and only living God was and had always been from another world and although at one time it is apparent from the Word that he showed himself here on Earth doesn't as far as we know live here today. 33625 Today this is an old idea but in Michael's early days of philosophy it was Earth shattering and blasphemous. He never shared his thoughts outside his circle of friends which changed throughout the years always the same sort of people; dreamers. He never told his traditional Christian parents of his wild ideology, he would have been and was eventually called delusional. But he is not fortunately for you the reader and I think ideas are not delusional, what you believe without rational thought is. These are not what doctors were intended to decipher or diagnose; these ideas which are not necessarily popular and never were by the members of the Churches. Michael once had the conversation of the Resurrection with his Father and he shared (because with him he was able to.) 33333 He claimed his stake as a believer in the Son of God as the Divine and chosen one to be the savior of the planet but he claimed he really didn't believe that Christ's body survived the death on the cross. That is not unless there were untold circumstances such as he was really not dead at all or something rational like that. And his Father stood in the living room of his house and looked at him with fear in his face and posture and said, but son aren't you afraid of what people will think? Don't you feel a little out of place believing something that no one else in the Church believes? And Michael exclaimed, no Dad I won't because I believe in my heart that the Dead don't rise in the physical sense but only their spirits rise from death and go to the places spirits dwell whether that be Heaven and Hell I really can't know in my mind as things are here and now. And I am not afraid to stand on my own two feet. Michael told his Father that he believed in what the bible taught about Heaven and Hell and that he understood that Hell was the eternal separation from God. His Dad said, Michael, I can't make you believe anything you don't want to; all I know is what I believe. And Michael said well I guess we'll have to agree to disagree. And his Dad said fine I guess we will.

When the body dies its spirit leaves it and Michael is not really sure what happened two thousand years ago way back when he wasn't around but he is not stupid and he would say he thinks Jesus was even smarter than he is. If you want his honest opinion he thinks in his gut that it was all a conspiracy.

CHAPTER 19

It is a popular argument and debate among theologians as to the meaning of the greatest, most awesome and most intriguing book of the Holy Bible, the Book of Revelations; a revelation of Jesus Christ to John, a disciple of Jesus Christ. Michael has his own views and an opinion based on rational thought which he believes to be a revelation of his own from Christ, due to the fact that the book was left with just a little room for a great secret. When the thunder spoke to John and he was instructed to seal that part up and not record it 47446, it could only mean that it would be recognized at a later date sometime in the end days; a time when one period of God ended and another began. A time period when something in the stars would signal it; something unmistakable like the alignment of the planets with the center of the galaxy? Something that happens every 25,000 years! Recognized and spoken by a messenger of Christ not unlike the gifted Apostle John, Disciple of Christ. 33719

This is the Revelation of Michael concerning the Revelation of John. It was given to Michael by the Power of the Holy and Great Spirit of Christ and the Father. Michael fully understands the ramifications of stating these things that follow and has been instructed to also not reveal everything because the Spirit said unto him things are only just begun in the plan of Christ's return and they are not to be fouled by loose lips, but what Michael will tell you is of great importance and will aid you as followers a great and mighty piece of a whole. A great many things about how to understand the Father and the Son will be spelled out for you and if you so choose to you may respond to the invitation of the Lord.

Michael, a fellow bondservant of Christ and his Father, El, was in the spirit in his country home in his home town which will not be named due to previous revelations of service written here in this book. He cried out to the Lord to guide him as he was in great distress over the condition of his sick wife. The answer came like a ton of bricks hitting him over the head and he heard the voice of the Lord (a moderately deep voice) say make straight my way I am coming soon. Go and tell others what I will give to you to say. The way will be dangerous and I know you are the man for the job because you have strength of the Rock. (more or less)

John's greeting to the seven churches in Asia is meant to be about the past and also about the present and future.

Michael's Cherokee ancestors had ancestors who were Asian. This is a marker that guided Michael's thoughts. It reads, "Grace and peace to you from the one who is, the one who always was, and the one who is yet to come from the sevenfold spirit surrounding his throne and from Jesus Christ the faithful witness who testifies to these things, The ruler of all the Kings of the world." "Look he comes with the clouds (The Changing Weather) In the following verses John describes what he saw in his vision. He saw several things which you can read for yourself in just about any version of the bible; most are accurate. Michael saw two things when the Lord spoke to him two different times; one a vision of things to come, and two a great light illuminating his entire self and mind. In chapter 2, verses 1 through chapter 3 verse 22 are the messages from Christ to the seven angels of the seven churches. These passages are both meant to be taken as Christ's word to the churches of that time period and also Michael was told they unlock the spirit in the souls of mankind of those who hear it, by prescribing the same for individuals to take in during this time period and every time period since that time.

The Following is taken either word for word or slightly in paraphrase from the Book of Revelations Chapter 2-3

2:1 The Letter to the Church of Ephesus

V1:Write this letter to the angel of the Church in Ephesus. This is the message from the one who holds the seven stars in his fist and who walks among the seven gold lampstands: I know all the things you do. I have seen your hard work and your patient endurance. I know you do not tolerate evil people. You have examined those who claim to be apostles and have found them false. You have patiently suffered for me without quitting. But I have this complaint against you. You have turned your back on your first love. You have fallen a Lucifer fall. Turn back and do as you did at first. If you do not repent I will come and remove your lampstand. But this is in your favor, you hate the evil deeds of the Nicolaitans as I do. Anyone with ears to hear listen to what the spirit is blowing through the churches. To everyone who is victorious I will give fruit from the tree of life in the Paradise of God.

Meaning: The Woman and the Dragon: A great sign appeared in the Heavens; A woman clothed with the sun about to give birth and the moon under her feet and on her head a crown of twelve stars. A known sign. She was pregnant and crying out in birth pains (something in development about to take place) about to give birth. Then another sign appeared; a great red dragon in the sky with ten horns and seven heads and seven diadems (a jeweled headdress worn to shown sovereignty) on his head. A known sign. The word Dragon is misleading in the text because of the following reason: Satan is God's offspring as is Michael and of course Christ. All heavenly creatures are of the Dragon class or Species because they are of God and I suppose if you want to get downright technical you could say that man is a lower form of Dragon. Here is a reference to the Dragon that is referring to Satan but to be technical as in Psalm 18 where Jehovah breaths fire out of his nostrils and comes down from the Heavens; God is also a Dragon as are all angels created by God. The child in reference will be a girl child and will be a dragon as well. It has been as is well known throughout the course of history a great sign of heredity and power if a male child is born to a parent but in God's eyes the final sign of fertility is important because it answers the ultimate question of where we came from – A man can impregnate a woman but a woman can be impregnated by a form of science that does not require the man; only his genetic code. It states in the scripture that the woman will give birth to a male child. Continuing: 4) His tail swept down a 1/3 of the stars in the sky and threw them down to Earth. The Dragon stood before the woman about to give birth so that he might devour the child. The woman will give birth to a male child, one that will rule all the nations with an Iron Rod.

Hos (2:7)*

7 When she runs after her lovers, she won't be able to catch them. She will search for them but not find them. Then she will think, 'I might as well return to my husband, for I was better off with him than I am now.' 8 She doesn't realize it was I who gave her everything she has—the grain, the new wine, the olive oil; I even gave her silver and gold.

As is stated previously Michael believes as was instructed by the Lord that it will be a female child but she will bear the character of a man with her common sense and her practicality in matters pertaining to government and leadership. So be blessed immensely if you have a female child. It is God's way of forgiving what happened in the Garden of Eden concerning Eve and original sin. Something that must take place before God returns to Earth to dwell. 5) And she gave birth. But the child was snatched away and taken to God and his throne. The woman fled into the wilderness to a place prepared for her by God for a period of time. 34283 This is all made possible because someone knew and didn't tell. 34296

The Tree of Life yields different fruit in twelve seasons one for each month of the year. (Rev 22:2) The Zodiac is a representation of these fruits and how they are passed on to God's children on Earth. Astrology is as old as time itself. There is a great story and accompanying lore surrounding the Mayan people and their calendar system if you don't know. They used a unique system of prediction of the seasons using astrology as their guide. They even knew that the event that took place in December of 2012 on the 21st day at 10:21 PM was the end of a certain astrological cycle and there was great stirring among the people about it because that was where the Mayan calendar stopped dead in its tracks. Some predicted it was the end of the world. 34400 If these words speak to your soul like he is talking directly to you then you must respond by coming forward as your name has been called. This message applies to all both already Christian and not yet called. 27358 This is the scripture that started Michael's journey. Michael was blessed with the gift of interpretation but he is humble because he knows he was not sent to carry this message alone. There are others who will respond to the invitation to be a conqueror. A conqueror is someone not necessarily who has done it right the whole time so they boast having no experience with sin; conquerors who are the saltiest have been to war over sin and have died the first death with Christ and who are still standing even though Satan has used them. This is a bond with the devil necessary to be used against evil. For too long but by God's own design Christians have taught that they need to be separated from their sin in order to be Holy. Michael's message here at this junction in the passage of time since Christ, is that only by embracing your wrongs and even learning to laugh them away takes all of Satan's power from him. Too much heartache and whaling at the wall has been spent. Your supplication has been heard and so a response is due. And so it is due, and so it is. They have thorns in their sides like Paul that give them a special connection with the spirit. They are both cold and hot and maybe sat in the middle as an agnostic or even on the cold side as an atheist before they heard their name being called by Christ and chose to be hot for his sake no matter what their suffrage. We all have a cross to bear and even though it states in 1 Peter 3:18 that Christ died once and for all we know that people around the world who are subject to evil men are killed and imprisoned for speaking about the Gospel of Christ and so it continues. In the translation that Michael was reading the first time he looked upon this scripture it said “run after her” and with that interpretation which is unknown to Michael by memory, today a lost interpretation to him, it held a meaning not only of the Spirit of Christ but to his first wife which he turned away from in shame and self-pity. Her being Holy to him and being of God’s choice for him at that time; shameless and innocent in God’s eyes, Michael immediately felt the fire and repented of his mistake. God’s message to Michael was that there was to be no more shame in him and this was the word that he was to deliver to others. Shed your shame and guilt and forgive yourself. 27503 (Michael’s Independent Credentials) Her name was at that very time; for a second time, 27515 (#1 and #2) matched with her spiritual identity in Michael’s life as well as in his heart and soul. 26607 (The secret death and resurrection of Michael) It was a secret at first but it is one no more now that it has been written. Michael’s thorns are many but the greatest growth Michael ever experienced was when he accepted that his wife slept with another man and that she would most likely be married to that man for the rest of her natural life. You see Michael knows her heart and she is a loyalist to her man. Michael released her of her oath and her love for him so she is not an adulteress. So it would be said from then on that Michael and his first bride the Bride of Christ were estranged and both married another and they were both the parent of someone else’s children. And this was the will of God. The fall of Lucifer that Michael fell wasn’t that he forgot Christ it was that he took for granted what Christ had made for him. It was Christ in his soul mate. Paul said in his letter to the Corinthians that man or woman is better off if they are single to not seek to change that but meant that it should be of God's choosing because marriage opens the door to worldly issues and hardships. He said God is better served by remaining single so that he is the focus of the man or woman's time. However we know that there are many couples who live with God in a Trinity or a Holy triangle making God and his Son the head of their relationship and this is how it would have been for Michael and Amy; much different than that of Michael and his second wife who bore him his children and died. Michael is now free to do the will of the Lord and will remain single; divorced and widowed until the time the Lord in Heaven chooses for him a third bride. The mother of his children had a hard time with knowing the lord or how to tell the truth about herself. A lie is overlooked until the bond of trust is like someone continuously committing adultery and there becomes no such thing as trust. It is grounds for a swift divorce when reality is not the focus of a marriage because what you owe your spouse more than anything is honesty and being real for them in a place on this Earth that is mostly not. May she rest in peace that she could never find while alive; Amen. And may God and the Spirit protect Amy and her family by surrounding them with angels from above because Michael knows just how many demons there are in this world. They're number is many, but not greater than the Angels in Heaven.

2: The Letter to the Church in Smyrna:

Write this letter to the angel of the church in Smyrna. This is the message from the one who is first and last, the one who was dead but is alive. I know about your suffering and your poverty – but you are rich! I know the blasphemy of those opposing you. They say they are Jews but their synagogue is of Satan. Don't be afraid of what you are about to suffer. The Devil will throw some of you into prison. You will suffer for ten days, but if you remain faithful to me unto death I will give you a crown of life. Anyone with ears hears what the spirit is blowing through the churches. Whoever overcomes will not be harmed by the second death.

Meaning: Right now the Jews are center stage and doing what they must to remain safe. They will play a major role in these final plays against the Army of Satan (non-allies of the US and Israel) as will the U.S. When this passage speaks of those who say they are Jews it really isn't referring all about the Jewish people. Many people worldwide must repent and rededicate themselves to the Lord or God. 27596 There are others now more powerful in God's intention 33770 than the Jewish Authority who have become corrupted and who love to throw people in jail for talking about Christ or better yet acting on Christ's behalf. The United States is not done fighting for her future and will survive but parts of her namely certain institutions are in peril. Education Administration, Medicine, Civil Authority and the Justice Dept. are four that are in serious need of attention. In the United States, people are supposed to be protected by the first amendment of the Constitution but when there are no lawyers present doctors love to diagnose people with over active religious beliefs or what is called hyper religious beliefs. These include saying you hear God, Seeing visions, having big thinking about the book of Revelations, etc., and Michael knows this is the truth because it happened to him at the hands of a court appointed forensic specialist. This is a blatant violation of the Bill of Rights namely the 1st Amendment. So you see the synagogue of Satan may partially reside in Israel in the Jews who do not accept that Christ was the Son of the Living Host, and I am not saying it is so but it has found its way to America. I am not fluent on Israeli religious politics. The first death comes at the turn of childhood into adulthood when our bodies and minds are most stirred and this is also the best opportunity to teach. If the individual runs from self and hides from God then the first death may be delayed until a later age. 27678 (Sequence of Life) (The Higgs Theory) The second death is the physical death and it is at this time our spirit returns to the Heavens to see our Father or is separated from him. Also there is no actual realism in the meaning in 10 days of suffering because of the Theory of Relativity. Michael had to suffer for ten and ½ years before he was freed of the states hold on him. Seven for the seven heads of the spirits of El, the greatest of all Dragons, Three for the Temple, and ½ for the half a man that Michael was before Christ resurrected him from the dead. 33801 People love to say they know what God thinks because they can control people. Michael seeks to control only those who wish to become part of him and his. Control can be a good thing if executed with enough liberty for all. He supports the scripture that is written, let those who do evil continue to do so. God will be glorified without them and they will be stopped by fate. Remember that God is time. 33804 Remember that God acts through people but it has to occur naturally.

Anyway each of these letters contains markers that awaken the spirit in certain people. Some people would be awakened but they would have to care first and many do not care at all. You have to first recognize that John's vision was about the past present and the future and while doing the study you will have to feel your way through it and let the spirit be your guide. If you can identify with this scripture God is speaking to you. As it happens you will be made aware if you are paying attention and everyone will hear and feel differently. The one thing that will be the same is that all will be able to relate to one another. The introduction of this revelation to John states that those who read it and hear it are blessed. This is because it was written by the hand of the Spirit. It is supposed to be an artifact and a conversation piece and have its own special attachment to you. Warning to the reader: this book has been known to cause adverse reactions to people who are known to be delusional. 27797 Be careful who you talk to. Those who can be awakened will be tried by the spirit of the Devil. 27071 (In loving respect and honor of Capt. Richard Marcinko ;) An explicit example of America's failure to be fair and to honor its heroes.

3: The Message to the Church at Pergamum.

Write this letter to the Angel at the church in Pergamum.

This is the message from the one with the sharp two edged sword.

at you live in the city where Satan has his throne, yet I know you have remained loyal to me. You refused to deny me even after my faithful witness Antipas was murdered there in Satan's city. But I have a few complaints against you. You tolerate some among you who's teaching is like Baalam, who showed Balak how to trip up the people in Israel. He taught them to sin by eating food offered to idols and to commit sexual sin. You also have some Nicolaitians who live among you who follow the same teaching. Repent of your sin or I will come and fight against them with the sword of my mouth. Anyone with ears to hear, listen to the wind words blowing through the churches. To everyone who is victorious I will give some of the secret manna that has been hidden away in Heaven. I will give each a white stone with a new name engraved upon it that no one understands but the one who receives it.

All you really need most of the time is words but in place of words sometimes a sidearm or a rifle is useful. You can't talk a deer into lying down for you. Christ knew this and this is what he relied upon. He outthought his opponent by using his instincts. Scientists today will tell you humans aren't like animals and that they don't have instincts but this is something an atheist would say. The spirit makes some instinctual and the way you are brought up by all in your life referring to the theory of nature versus nurture also makes some things as instinct would be. Remember this! A diamond is whatever color stone its background color is. The same goes for a crystal. Clear stones offset white. Christ is the Bridegroom.

The Message to the Church in Thyatira

Write this letter to the Angel of the Church in Thyatira.

This is the message from the Son of God, the one whose eyes blaze like fire, whose feet look like polished brass. I KNOW WHAT YOU DO. I know you love, your faithfulness, your service, and your patience. I know you are doing more than you did before. But this is what I have against you; you tolerate that woman Jezebel, who calls herself a messenger of God. By her teaching she misleads my servants into practicing sexual immorality and eating foods offered to idols. I have given her time to repent of her sins but she does not want to turn from her immorality. V22: And so I will cast her on a bed of suffering with those who committed adultery with her. I will do this now unless they repent of all the wicked things they did with her. I will also end all of her followers so that the churches will know that I am the one who knows everyone's thoughts and wishes. I will repay each one of you according to what he has done. But the rest of you in Thyatira have not followed this evil teaching; you have not learned what others call the deep secrets of Satan's teaching. I say to you that I will not put any further burden on you. But until I come you must hold firmly to what you have. To those of you who win the victory, who hold true till the end to what I want, I will give the same authority I was given by my father: I will give them the right to rule over nations; to rule them with an iron rod and to break them into pieces like clay pots. I will also give them the Morning Star. V29: If you have ears listen to what the spirit is blowing through the churches.

Watch out for false prophets and teachers of the law. A moderate government is good but one that is too big is too controlling and one that is too small allows business to rule itself (proven to be a mistake.) If everyone was honest in business and out for the consumer this would be the best way but the love of money is the root of all evil. Money as a tool is a great thing. 27305 Also he who has the abbreviation AT (Anti-Terrorist) written on his or her thy and is a scout will bear the Morning Star, a child or children who do the same because as a parent they excel at teaching lessons and playing games. They think like a child and understand what they feel. They are not afraid of the really hard talks.

The Message to Sardis

To the Angel of the Church in Sardis write:

This is the message of the one who has the Seven Spirits of God and who has the Seven Stars. I KNOW WHAT YOU ARE DOING: I know that you have a reputation for being alive though you are dead! So wake up and strengthen what you still have before it dies completely. For I find what you have done is not yet perfect in the sight of my God. Remember then, what you were taught and what you heard; obey it and turn from your sins. If you do not wake up I will come upon you like a thief, and you will not even know the time when I will come. But there are a few of you left in Sardis who have kept yourself clean. You will walk with me, dressed in white, because you are worthy to do so. To those who are victorious will not have their names removed from the book of the living. In the presence of my Father in Heaven and his Angels I will openly declare they belong to me. He who has ears let him hear what the spirit is blowing through the churches.

The Message to the Church in Philadelphia

V7: To the Angel of the Church in Philadelphia write:

This is the message from the one who is Holy and True. He has the key that belonged to David; when he opens a door no man can close it, and when he closes a door no man can open it. I KNOW WHAT YOU DO; I know that you have little power. You have followed my teaching and been faithful to ME. I have opened a door in front of you, which no one can close. Listen! As for that group that belongs to Satan, those liars who claim to be Jews but are not, I will make them come and bow down at your feet. They will all know that I love you. V10: Because you have kept my command to endure, I will also keep you from the time of trouble that is about to come upon the whole Earth to test the people of Earth. I am coming soon. Keep safe what you have, so that no one will rob you of your victory prize. I will make him/her who is victorious a pillar in the Temple of my God, and he will never leave it. I will write on him the name of my God and the city of my God, the New Jerusalem, which will come down from Heaven from my God. I will also write on him my new name. V13: He who has ears let him hear what the spirit is blowing through the churches.

Obviously loyalty, faithfulness, and being able to stand firm is something the Lord cherishes. This is because he knows well what it feels like to be betrayed. He came to Earth, a holy teacher of the law and he was turned away by his very own people. People he loved and people he already knew would reject him. It also states to be strong in standing up against Satan but just as he knows all things he knows that the world is full of snares and traps which he says in his promises that he will keep us from. But what if we're caught in one? It is smarter to say you are not a follower if your mission is to end the fight with those who would persecute you. The Art of Morning Light (MAE DO), take your wife and your wife's sister and any children you can find and go into the cave and seal the entrance behind you and wait for the dawn and the next eve to travel. 27848 Say for example that it is God's Will that you deny his name to gain clout in the organization that is in control. God will not forsake you. It is better when you consider the cost of life and freedom to affect change when saying that you serve the Lord will earn you death or a prison sentence. And these are the ways of survival. God affects change through people who serve him and heed the spirit's call. It claims above that he will rebuild the Temple and that he will select teachers to dwell there and make it their home. They will be named Pillars of the New Temple. And it states he will do a lot of writing on people. What this means is that he will tell or disclose to them secrets of the Father that he has knowledge of. When it states he will write on them it is referring to writing on their hearts and souls. When he writes on them his new name he is telling them who he really is because when he comes back he comes as he left, a man with divine insight and at this time Satan will be looking to kill him again but it states in 1 Peter 3:18 that he died once and for all, so Satan will not know him by his birth name. He will spread the word and gather his army in secret gaining the trust of his nation's heads and of other allies. And he will come to a man who does not wish for war and he will tell him to his face the time has come to prepare the way of him. The time has come to make war on Satan's Army of nations and rebels who have gathered in the name of Jihad and declared war on Christ's homeland. (80 of 106 – . 27995 *(The number of a rider, the number of control, the number of Michael's enlistment.)

The Message to the Church in Laodicea

V:14 To the Angel at the Church in Laodicea Write:

This is the message from the Amen, The Faithful and True Witness who is the origin of all that God has created. I know what you have done. I know how you are neither cold nor hot. How I wish you were one or the other, but because you are lukewarm I shall spit you out of my mouth. You say, I am rich and well off; I have all that I need, but you do not know how miserable and pitiful that you are! You are poor naked and blind. I advise you then to buy gold from me, pure gold so that you may be rich. (Faith) Buy also white clothing to dress yourself with and cover up your nakedness. Buy also some salve (ointment) for your eyes so that you may see again. I am hard on those I love. Behold I stand at the door and knock; If anyone hears my voice and opens the door I will come in and sit and eat with him and he will eat with me. To those who are victorious I will give the given the right to sit beside my Father on his throne. He who has an ear let him hear what the wind is blowing through the churches. (74 of 89 – 23583 words. 23 the number of the Mark 23, a SEALS handgun; 5 the number of the Faithful and True Witness and 83' the year of Marcus' birth. Another sign) (Marcus' journey is a miracle)

Christ says to this Angel of the seven of Gods throne and spirit how he wishes he was not sitting on the fence being idle and how he wished he would make his mind up and choose a side because the battle is drawing near. He is one of his own and does not want to abandon him but he has to make his own decisions because even though El is his God and Father he is given free will. He is quite content being idle but needs to be rich Christ declares; rich in gold purified in the fires of the lord. I think he is talking about faith which he lacks. In every sevenfold spirit of the Lord there has to be a straggler and this is that one.

Peter, Paul, John Paul, Peter – Here's a little brain teaser. 581367943210123456789101112113 This is a cypher. These numbers were chosen one at a time in sequence one right after the other with senses guiding. It means my mother is why I am 1. The number of a knight. Now old enough to reign supreme. It is because of Christ. The birth year of my wife faked. The year I enlisted. The number of a Chief or an NCO. The number of a supreme system of government. The number of the temple authority in the Temple of the Black Knights. The birth year of my youngest project and son. The year of a Judge who retired. The number of Special Warfare. The number of the Central Intelligence Agency. The size of my backup sidearm. The number of the name of Christ. The number of the chief of the DEA. The number of the intelligence of an angel. The number of the dragon. The number of 5.0. The number of 5.0 captains and chiefs. The number of the year that I was vindicated by the retirement of a state judge. The number of the Temple Author. The number of corrupt 5.0.. The year and the Knight. My mix is perfect. The numbers are read in order of their selected meanings and they change from two to three digits. It is my spiritual worm. And he knew them all by their number. Christ lives through me. 18934

The rules

- 1) Repent and be baptized with Christ. Romans 6:4 All things will be made new.
- 2) Swear a Holy oath to defend your country against all enemies of the United States both foreign and domestic and swear to protect the Constitution of the United States.
- 3) Never leave a man or a woman behind.
- 4) Never ask someone to do something you are not willing to do or have knowledge of doing yourself. This makes for bad business ethics.
- 5) Always be reverent of God and his Son and of the Holy and Great Spirit. Be reverent of all world religions except those who preach hate.
- 6) Always honor your unit. Never Testify Against Your Brother or Sister in Christ.
- 7) Always follow orders when they are in good standing.
- 8) Always report orders that are not in good standing. (If someone asks you or orders you to do something then the boss will be ok with those directions or he will make the necessary correction) You may lose face with your immediate supervisor but at least you will be certain of your duties. This takes experience.

- 9) Always report harassment of any kind unless it is welcomed harassment. (horseplay) If it is not welcomed ask the person firmly to stop. Never lie about harassment and if it is uncalled for and the person or persons do not stop when asked, take a stand for yourself. If someone harasses you and you don't ask them to stop you have no suit.
- 10) Take medications as prescribed. Don't be afraid to seek as many medical opinions as necessary.
- 11) Do not drink alcohol in excess the night before duty. Don't show up to work smelling like alcohol. Also: Do not drive drunk. You know if you shouldn't be driving. No one should have to tell you. Drink Responsibly.
- 12) If you live in a state where cannabis sativa is legalized, do not use in excess as it will slow your reaction time down and do not ever use during working hours. If called for, a field sobriety examination will be rendered and if failed you will be suspended for the remainder of the work day and you will be written up.
- 13) Do not use illegal substances unless authorized.
- 14) Please make your chain of command aware of any religious ceremonies you are required to attend by scriptural law and accommodations will be made. Fallogician Deists must attend the Celebration of the Dragon annually for training and recreation with other members as when it is done it will be rather large.
- 15) Use the courts to settle your disputes and try to abide by the law when at all possible. This organization recognizes that there are minor infractions which most police will let slide so if it is good enough for their standards it is good enough for you. You should not admit to it if it ever happens as police are charged with upholding the law. Seek legal counsel and do not give a statement. Deny an unlawful search.

- 16) Follow the prescription of Old Testament Law meaning specifically the Ten Commandments. Lying is considered Adultery in a relationship. If you love one woman then be only with that woman. If your soul mate escapes your grasp then it is all right to remain single for life and have more than one girlfriend. It's alright with the Lord trust me, but never forget your duties to your children.
- 17) Defend yourself, your family and your property even if it means striking with a closed fist or using a weapon if being attacked with one, no hitting if it is your spouse or a member of the opposite sex. Men and women have no business putting their hands on each other unless it is mutually consensual. 19425
- 18) Do not report incidents to the police that can be resolved peaceably. Observe the regulations of the Chain of Command. If you have a problem with someone take it up with them in person, and when all possible put something in writing because when two people commit something to writing it will have a better chance of being successful. If nothing can be resolved seek the next possible choice or authoritative move.
- 19) Do not fear Satan or Satanists but do not preach to them.
- 20) If you marry at a young age enroll in marriage counseling.

- 21) If you serve in the Armed Forces successfully always carry it with you in spirit the rest of your life.
- 22) Consider Freemasonry and the Church of Michael. The Fallogician Deists.
- 23) If you become a father or mother honor your children above all other things besides your spouse.
- 24) Consider a career in Special Warfare.
- 25) Consider a Government Agency Job.
- 26) Always speak cordially and with extreme candor.
- 27) Respect your President.
- 28) Even you could be the Chief.
- 29) Allow Jesus to Live inside your heart; in your instincts
- 30) Editor's Note – 57 of 57 19612 words
- 31) Don't wait until the middle of your life to start teaching, life is short and there are no guarantees. But know that you will make mistakes, simply repent and be on your way
- 32) Honor the Agency, for they do God's work.
- 33) Work for a better system everyday of your life. It doesn't take as long as lawmakers would have you believe
- 34) Go to church at the very least on Christmas Day and Easter Sunday and take the Lords Supper.
- 35) Editor's Note – 58 of 58 – 19670 words)
- 36) Learn how to shoot; it is good exercise for the mind. It increases hand eye coordination and it is fun to pop targets.
- 37) Fight against Communism. We are blessed to live in an imperfect but free country. Things will be perfect someday.
- 38) Do not ever be or act in a prejudicial way toward Americans. Don't be a hater.

- 39) If you are convicted of a crime and sentenced to either prison or probation; repent, fly forward, serve your sentence no matter what it takes, and then come to church.

- 41) Listen to good music. This will vary.
- 42) Respect and Honor Israel
- 43) Bless the ministry of the Levites and accept every work of their hand. Hit their enemies where it hurts the most so that they will never arise again. Deuteronomy 33:11 (Editor's Note – 75 of 76 – 20123 words)
- 44) Moses said this about the tribe of Benjamin. The people of Benjamin are loved by the lord and live in safety beside him. He surrounds them continuously and preserves them from every harm. Deuteronomy 33:12
- 45) Your pattern of worship will change. Right now all of you are doing as you please, but when you cross the Jordan you will have a set place of worship. Deuteronomy 12:11
- 46) Do not neglect the Levites. Deuteronomy 12:19
- 47) You may eat any of the meat that the lord blesses you with anywhere you choose but do not drink the blood because it is the life. Deuteronomy 12:23
- 48) The blood of your sacrifices must be poured out on the altar of God. Deuteronomy 12:27
- 49) God has given you the right to make offerings for a vow and to make voluntary offerings. Deuteronomy 12:6
- 50) Do not harm children, but discipline them with measurement equal to their acts. It has been said that children are resilient and there may be some truth in this. The mind has a very peculiar way of blocking out pain. Pain of injury, pain of the loss of a loved one, etc. However, try to be firm but fair with children.

The rule of 25 states that you are allowed to speak when you have something to say to an authority figure and it is your unalienable right. The rule of 52 states that when no authority figure is present and in need of action try to do the right thing and let God sort it out with the authorities.
- 59) Come as you were but be ready for anything.
- 60) You are a spirit that dwells in the body. You are not this body. (91 of 107 – 28200 words)

That being said there are a probably some questions. (Editor's Note – 77 of 77 – 20165 words) * A side note concerning the transcription of the Editor's Notes: There was a lot of jumping around during the creation of this Tao. The page numbers correlate a time marker as does the word count. 20,342 The number of a Chief – 20 the number of a marine write document – 3 the number of a judge in a certain field – and 42 for the number of a railroad bridge and a sand bar on the river where Michael learned to shoot straight and defend as a young man; hence the number of a Chief.

Satan was here with Michael trapped in his soul. This occurred when Christ came into Michael's host. God is of a dual nature; he is a duelist; a pugilist. He could communicate with Michael through his dreams and when the Lord wasn't speaking to him you can bet that the Devil took his turn while he was asleep to try to turn him to the dark side. Of course, as it is written in the Bible there will be many antichrists in the end days and when Michael wasn't interacting with them face to face he couldn't change their decision making process. You are instructed to be small minded and of a shame base; Go to Hell! Doctor! There are plenty who are big thinkers. Don't take the curse lightly and don't take my word on anything; listen to what I say. That shall be your evidence. And sometimes the only answer to a solution is to fight that antichrist. This is an opinion that made the President feel like he wasn't working for peace but Michael always drove home the message anyway that war is the answer that works that does have its costs; he said you just have to make those costs worthwhile. Hindsight is always at least 20/20; if you are in the Middle East and a car appears on the side of the road during the night you can bet your ass it may be a roadside bomb or an IED as they're called. You should probably just blow up the car from a distance so no one is hurt. You can criticize for the criticism but really it just takes thinking like a terrorist, something counter terrorists are trained to do. Michael would have been available to counsel and advise the situation had it not been for a state judge who railroaded Michael in a court case keeping him oppressed. (78 of 79 – 20605 words). It's never just one way Judge (name irrelevant); there are always options but now you have made a decision that will end your fame and could have saved lives. So sorry you're not the king you dreamed you were. All your hard but not really hard work laid to rest in disgrace because you chose to be a hard ass on the bench when you could have shown compassion to others. I said it once, I don't mind repeating myself when it comes to you; I want you to understand me when I tell you how angry you made me with your display of childish lack of temperament. I can see my way to forgiving you but I will never forget. God said he would weigh in with Judges and teachers and that he would judge them according to their works ten times more severely than a laymen, and you chose your own choices in this so you are not and can never be seen as innocent. I apologize ahead of time for our conversation; you know the conversation we were supposed to have arranged before sentencing that fateful day. The conversation where I spoke to you man to man – Chief to Chief wearing my Trident like I did in court trying to let you know what kind of man you were damning. The same conversation you wouldn't allow because unlike myself, Patriot is not a word or a person you look up to or possibly you just think your definition suits you better like there can be only one kind; your kind. It was really all in your ball field to play ball with a real player worth a fir tune; you know that ting ting ting that the original Hart 21 California framer makes when you give the nail a good solid arm full. A sound I am quite familiar with. You see Judge I know you are a freemason and have studied the angles but unlike you I built many houses and learned about the necessary architecture. You studied the law which is a form of masonry also but how many discoveries dis you make in your time that you judged so many with teeth bared. When I first met you I thought you were unfair and when I met you again the third time at my revocation sentencing I was sure of it; you were an unfair man. When you are on the other side for so long and have seen firsthand what good the law is capable of and what measures it will go to succession, then meet someone of your stature you feel in your gut that this man is worth trusting at least to be fair; but you tied me to the rail and to the arm and then got on the radio and called up the task force to roll on big daddy and then you shattered someone who would have called you by your worth. Your prosecutor, that fellow who called himself a Knight promised me a deal and to get it which I was told by counsel was my only hope (a low down cover up) It was necessary to plead guilty even though I was not and was told to lie to you when you asked me whether a deal had been offered. You realize of course that I can never believe that you were naïve to the truth. I have to believe that you knew and that makes me sad and hurt. You are sworn to uphold the Constitution and all I did was make an honorable gesture without a license. A fine would have sufficed. I would have paid it and you would be a hero to me; a fellow. You did do one thing for me that I appreciated in 2009. You stood up for my decision to deny a search by city police officers that was based on coercion. I knew they had no probable cause and I went with my instincts. You see, Michael studies the law as well and like his ability as an architect he has lived the law as well. 22062 You will forever be my brother in Freemasonry but I will never forget what you have done to my sons. You have made me a folly to them and they are quite impressionable. 22096 (The birthdate my son was born and the year I was second best) I am the best. If you are not with me then you are against me. And if you are against me you do not have the Lord on your side. Forty years on the bench; hmmm let's see; is an internal investigation in order? In this famous country it is well known that you are to be presumed innocent until proven guilty but I guess that doesn't apply to coercion of a guilty plea, just because you promised them some kind of deal which of course you are told to deny when asked by the judge and then renege on later. It's just not fair or right but neither is killing the old man when I have math on my side. You know what is said about this – "have math will travel." (The code of accounting) In Colleges and Universities around the world Accounting is the working of math and accounts. I see it as a degree in being accountable only. The reason I am so freely referring to the death penalty for anyone is, not upholding the constitution when you are sworn to do so will qualify you to be guilty of being a traitor of the flag. A crime in time of war punishable by death.

And it was on these words Michael accepted his oath. When he was interviewed he was led down a dead end road with an entrapping line of questioning except that he was a soldier and there is no such thing as entrapping a soldier who has taken the defense oath. Anything goes for a volunteer. They can torture you psychologically if they so choose to. And if you are one who is one you either know or will find this out for yourself. First your instructor gains your trust and then asks you to sacrifice yourself for him and what it is you volunteered for. It's almost done without even speaking that's how fine-tuned the brain is. It picks up on subliminal messages and this is the secret to mind control but in Michael's case and in the case of other extremely strong willed people there still remains a choice to be made by the volunteer and when Michael was asked if he intended to finish the job he set out to do (exact words) he chose to do so and his reply was "yes I am one"

As a Deist, Michael has different views on the Resurrection of Jesus Christ. In every Gospel it is written that Jesus physically rose from the dead from a state of decay three days after his death on the cross. It is written that he appears to them on the road and on the shore while they are fishing and that they had breakfast with them. To believe in this one must ignore natural law and nature's God who is the creator and the Father of Jesus. Science lays down a pretty fundamental case as to the reasons that it is impossible to return from the dead after the dead has been dead a period of three days, and we find scripture in 1 Peter that contradicts the story of the resurrection of Christ in chapter 3:18. It reads, "Christ suffered. He did not sin. He died for the sins of man. He died a physical death and suffered, but he rose in Spirit. It's ok, we all start out innocent and something we're not sure of, the fact is many of the people of faith never actually find out about the truth because there has been formed and remains an entire group of those who oppose the truth or simply hate the truth because it isn't financially viable; keeping them sidetracked. A lot of assemblies are run as a business would be instead of a house of God. In order for what I am about to confess to and wrap your brain entirely around it you have to do nothing more than you already do as practitioners of the Christian faith; believe the impossible without a doubt and take it on faith. Christ our Lord, son of the I AM, said you will learn to call me by a new name or in other words a new way of living. Time changes all things relative and all things are inter connected in relativity. Spirit, something I believe in very much

The name my mother gave me is Michael Airic and my father's surname is White. I was born under the astrological signs of Aries and on the Chinese calendar the Snake on the Earth star date, April 16, 1977. I am made in the exact likeness of my father in heaven he said to me in the Spirit. It is my gift and my curse alike. It is not an easy life to fulfill. God used prophets in the Old Testament and Apostles to teach the Church. In Revelations a story of all stories is told; it will take the power of an Angel to destroy the evil that has taken control of the hearts of man. My name is Michael but Christ is written on my heart and also counter-terrorist. I started out with no memory at all and still have little memory of my childhood but I remember times and places I've never seen or witnessed. These things are the things the Father has written in my mind. Charles Berkeley said in his thesis that no thought is original but that every thought imagined and experienced by man or woman was imagined or experienced first in the mind of the Father. No human or machine has ever refuted this statement, because it was inspired by the direct hand of the Father. My name is Michael and I am a bondservant of Christ our Lord. My name was given in place of one who could not come because he had already fallen in the good fight. I am here for a meeting with the Devil and he knows about me and what it is I want from him and his. He is everywhere I look but does not recognize himself when he looks into the mirror, unlike myself where when the first time I was in the spirit and saw myself in the mirror I knew my own number but at that time did not want to believe. This book is full of numbers and every one of them has meaning. I have read all the rules of Satanism and Anton LaVey speaks a lot of truth but he worships the Darkness of the Spirit Which is Satan and I worship the Light which is Christ. We can see eye to eye once and for all. I'll leave him to his while leaving the door open to convert and he will not tempt children not of age. He will not openly curse Christianity or belief in God and I will not scorn him for worshipping majik and the dark way, for I am a believer that the Spirit possesses majik; White Majik. These things are the confession of my word and my temple. I am a Black Knight because from the beginning darkness has preceded light and it was controlled by the spirit of the Father, my father.

1 In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth.*
2 The earth was formless and empty, and darkness covered the deep waters. And the Spirit of God was hovering over the surface of the waters.

I have many injustices written on my heart that are in need of attention, but no one seems to be paying attention to detail, only making blind assumptions. Know this; that nothing goes unnoticed in heaven where the Father and good spirits dwell, and nothing on Earth goes unnoticed by the Black Bishop's men and women. My friends do not think of heaven as a place that is somewhere distant from earth for it is written in Genesis that the Spirit of the Father created the heavens and the stars to be a separate thing but in the realm of this planet.

Gen (1:6-8)*

6 Then God said, "Let there be a space between the waters, to separate the waters of the heavens from the waters of the earth." 7 And that is what happened. God made this space to separate the waters of the earth from the waters of the heavens. 8 God called the space "sky."

And evening passed and morning came, marking the second day.

The Father also said there would be signs in the in the sky and many earthquakes in those days just as there have been. Like this planet there are other planets the Father has created I believe, that will evolve either slower or faster than earth. The God particle is eve, and it is everywhere in the universe; and so we must live as if we are an example to another premature people that we may wind up teaching someday when we are advanced enough to venture into the depths of the unknown; the universe itself. Or we must fear that we are under developed to some higher race and we are making fools of ourselves. 28552 Also do not dwell on the dead you know of, only honor their memory with all that you choose to do. You need not fear death unless it only comes as a relief, for it is painful at times but temporary. There are many worse conditions than death. Consider Heaven inside your soul and you will know the Father and the Son and also the Spirit of darkness and light. Michael had been imprisoned by corruption of the system upon their hearing of Michael's arrival in the scheme of things and kept under close surveillance for years, Satan in the form of all his corruption in the manifestation of a corrupt prosecutor who was in league with a state judiciary member tried to have Michael found incompetent by placing him in a mental institution for seven months. Michael to date has never been declared incompetent and it was the saving grace he was looking for in the days of his escape. He was Military Elite. Now what I can tell you about the relationship between the Military Elite and police officers is that they're nothing alike. Police officers don't take the same oath. Police Officers swear to uphold a law that is not their own though they make it personal enough for all and their hatred and bigotry shines. They enforce their law. They don't argue the law and their primary purpose though their doctrine is protect and serve is to serve the prosecutorial nature of the law. There is nothing left to defense Michael says. He was intentional in his ways that lead to corruption imprisoning him. He made himself known to them one grand day in 1994. It was by this very measure which he chained the corrupt. The Devil is not always corruption but corruption is always oppressive and they beat Michael to a pulp, but play anyone's game and they will tell you who they are; give anyone enough chain to tie them with and they will either break the chain or be yours. Michael didn't have to do a thing except speak and he was vindicated. Satan fears Michael's right hand and loves to bludgeon him with talk of abusive nature, but Michael speaks the word of God and speaks for Christ in the end at the turn of the tide. Times brutality is reserved to those most vile. A time when understanding Satan and his followers is vital to the church. They have become separated. If it his will to separate us from God we should know all about his ways. We will only grow in this endeavor. There are the Satanists of America and there are evil powers in the form of other nations in the world. They are not one in the same. The Satanists of America don't want America to fall. They might want it to change and might like their privacy but they are allies to the army that fights the war against terrorism. I know the spirit that they call the darkness and I know him well. 26136 notes from the 1 who just turned 36, 2013

Dragons if you know anything at all are actually and were actually always men who were just more powerful than others of their day and age. The Knights Templar, however different in their age were of the Dragon class. Lucifer which means lucidity and light was the first of the Dragon class and no one actually knows what time and era he actually sought power in heaven before he was cast down from the presence of God and banned from heaven for eternity left to dwell in other realms of Earth with man where he would have dominion. This was an oral tradition before it was ever written in the Torah. Lucifer was cast down by the order of the Father and carried out by Michael and the rest of his army. Michael was like that unto God as God as to himself, which is a definition of the name; Michael, and it is as old as time itself. Dragons are the oldest living creature on planet Earth and their actual born on date is unknown. This born on date actually refers to their days of conception in the spirit of the Holy Father and not their actual physical born on date. The creature of God's design -- Man -- walked for many years in darkness before he became enlightened and became what was one army under Lucifer which is the Light of men as was he of his father's house. Which is also why it is scriptural that even the Satan himself will kneel in the presence of the Lord and this is because he is bound by his soul to follow the code, although he corrupted and still corrupts many. It is inherent in us to love our parents.

You will come, he said, to know that the meaning of the names of the two. It will set your knowledge capabilities free and you will have ultimate clarity by knowing one of two things to be accepted -- 1) that God was actually an ideology that both a people and a leader named Lucifer accepted at one time and then later was scorned by the populous for rejecting (as it is the way), or that God is as the today's world of religion sees him as -- a creature with undefined and unlimited power who was the first born of himself (needing no mother (the meaning of the Higgs particle) being responsible for the creation of Adam and a Woman who was deception and love made from the sins of the man's own blood/BONES. With logic and reasoning combined with an inner sight that requires self-talk and choice to see things from a different viewpoint you can achieve the truth but it does not come easy to all people. Not all will acknowledge the ways of old because they've been brainwashed by an illusion; a mere misunderstanding of the text and its verbal as well as popular appearance. You see Michael can fix your eyes by simply using his voice and instilling in you the proper architecture of creation and evolution combined. Michael will set your mind and your heart free from all doubts about God. He has seen God (the Light) and heard it speak to his Soul as it etched history on his heart. He was given his knowledge first hand by God. Think of conservative Christianity of the past and present as a social event for people who are uncomfortable talking about the truth and all that it consists of; dealing with Satan as an equal rather than a superior force (Something to fear and believe that he cannot be beaten). Talking to Satan is what most Christians don't seek. If you want to know the Lord, know all sides of him so that you may protect yourself from evil when it presents itself.

Ie. There was a man who came to Lucifer at his turning into a man and asked him for counsel -- "does birthright outweigh the will of the coven -- and Lucifer replied no one man's son unless violated by the father of his own will ever see eye to eye with his father in the days of redemption in the time before his reign is to begin." He must accept all lives and deaths given unto him as a sacrament of the Father before him, for it is written -- Every son and daughtry shall sin against the father and the mother being redeemed and salvaged for service only through the grace of the almighty who is their heir." "For if the child who becomes an adult can understand the choices the parent had to make, only then shall the kingdom of Eden come to rest at the heel of the parent who bore another." "The Father was either a savior or an abaadon” “So the answer to your question is only answered by your will and not the will of the coven.” “If your will and your Fathers will meet in a fashionable order you will be favored by your blood but should you disagree you shall always find another who will agree with you.” “Here in my presence you can rest assured you are not alone.” As the Christian world diminishes we will rise to power within our boundary, but it must be a secret between myself, your head and you the coven. We must guard against Michael and his angels gift of hearing given to them to see through our schemes, lest they defeat us.

Ie. It is written that all men and women being children of the Father and Mother Earth in equality are all given certain natural gifts by inheritance of nature. This stains to reason as though all men deserve fair treatment unto their actions, we are not all created equal in terms of abilities. There are Olympic athletes who far surpass the norm. It is the same with systems of defense (ministries, departments, immunity) as it is with natural abilities save one unique article: systems of immunity and defense can be refined after error and usually things return to normal after a time; when a human being fouls up he is judged severely and not let to live it down for years. Still Someone who wants to be noticed always brings it back around to be revisited. 26156 The number of the secret service of our Lord Jesus Christ Jesus – 12345 Christ 123456 a man and a mans number. From the earliest age we are taught to order and count...

The few who put up a good defense from the start are of the Genus Michael so to say a piece of it is a burial trade secret. Buried in time with all other things; cities, civilizations, magic, and sorcery. 25,727 The number of the President’s counsel. 25734

So don't be too worried about a life ending in death, it's not as bad as it's made out to be. There is another life beyond but as for me I like my life here on Planet Earth and all the miserable pain that goes with it if I have my say in the matter. I prefer to stay here on Earth and never die. But we all know this is as unrealistic as dead people rising from the grave, don't we? (100 of 100 – 26183 Word of a Witness Who Overcame)

CHAPTER 22

My Masonry

Masonry is different depending on who you ask. There have been several different movements of masonry in history. Satanism is Freemasonry but my Freemasonry is God like. Satanism is the worship of darkness and evil not Satan the angel and his relevance and place concerning God lord of the underworld. That OS is only what they want you to believe but they summon spirits in their incantations. Bones members - all present. Jesus was everything he claimed to be and only a man at the same time. I should not say only a man because man is powerful; we were made in the likeness of the Father. He lived the best of both worlds. He told stories as I am sure you are aware of called parables and they are actually word versions of parabolas (numbers in sequences) This is what I know. It is said that he knew everyone by their number and indeed he was a number in sequence. He was the fourth King of Israel and there shall be another; and his # in heaven is 1 so you see 4 and 1 are synonymous, and the rebirth of David in his repentance after death. David was a horseman and his horse was the first white horse. We know this because he was said to be a king and had a bow. Now the bow means two things - it means an actual bow but it is also a meaning for silent, because all that is heard is the wind. A Native - A mighty warrior of God El. Now native means anyone who is indigenous to their land. Caucasians are not indigenous to America and neither are Africans, Asians or any other besides Native American Indians. You can be born somewhere and that partially makes you a native but native really should be defined as origin or untouched. Now being born in America is a birthright that I recognize as it should be recognized. You can emigrate from some other land and become and remain an American citizen but you are not native. Through America there has been the birth of the U.S. Constitution which I am all about. It, provided the Natives needs are put first, has made this land into something extraordinary. It means that you are a natural dweller of the land but the point is that the land was overtaken by the English, the Irish, the Scotch, Germans, etc. The Native American Indians dwelled in this land for at least 12,000 years before White man settled here, not that I am prejudiced because I am mostly Caucasian myself - all but 1/4 Native; I just wanted to say that to be a truthful witness. People who do not know or appreciate this country's history do not know the importance of the Native American Indian, or they are told some white horror story about how the Indians were not fit to remain because of a lack of understanding of either religion or education. Truthfully, at least in my tribe, spirituality was huge. I have learned a great deal with adding in my Native Cherokee masonry dealing with the commune of the Great Spirit. I have now learned to enchant items and put both good El and dark El curses on either things or people, because El was two parts and this is my native religion part of the whole. I am also a practicing Zen monk or Shaolin Priest. It does not interfere with my Christian beliefs because I do not consider the Buddha a deity only a foreign prophet. Someone who was placed in his region for a purpose; the purpose to someday integrate. Granted I am a Christian Deist so I practice as much of what Jesus taught as I can muster. I am by no means anything but a sinner who for some reason has excelled at what I study. God loves me dearly and I believe has chosen me for a great lesson to be given. It is said that he loves all people and that not one of us is born in darkness, so I guess that rules out original sin by the very definition of the term. I really believe I know a great deal concerning the spirit and even though the Word states in many instances that all are not lost, some truly are. Some people hate as it is very likely that I am guilty of it at times though I repent.

Now concerning hate and dislike: We can choose who we associate with and who gets our attention but it does not mean that we hate. It may be that we are just not compatible with some certain personality types. I can think back of several people I didn't get along with no matter how hard I tried and there are always new people that pop up in my desktop OS that I try to get along with without resolution. After you have tried yourself guilty you can rest; because even God gets weary. He is omnipresent and omniscient in the spirit only now because he is and always was a man who had a wife and children and ate slept drank and shat like every other man. Only he was different in discipline. What you know to be true about creation is both true and false - yes we were created but by whom is still a mystery. He was the King of Kings in his very manners. Can you imagine someone so persuasive that all either agreed with him or perished? I can see all things clearly these days since my beginning. I have memories scattered a bit about when I was younger than 14 but at 14 is really where it all started for me. I have always had foresight and insight and wisdom but it has increased with age. Children go from infant to toddler to adolescent and young man and woman and then when they turn eighteen the government tries to assassinate them with the courts. Only the very fortunate were lucky enough to have a good foundation and with that foundation a good common sense understanding of life at the age when man declares them to be ready for a slaves workload. I don't think it says a lot about someone and what they know for themselves to repeat aloud things they learned as children because for those who did it on their own it is insensitive to their intelligence. Someone gloats about lessons learned as a child and all some have is excruciating pain from childhood and many mistakes to boot and it makes them feel less than. "Less than" is something my wife, RIP always coined as a phrase because she was abandoned as a child to be raised by the insecurity of the state and group homes. She wanted to feel special but she really was only exceptional in wanting. She wanted so badly that it killed her. She never learned to be herself and the closest she got was a bold faced lie.

(Amy) She taught me a lot about true love and faithfulness to one. But here is where I am torn. Do I remain single and just either remain celibate or do I run around and have fun like everyone else. Either way I see it, it is wrong so I might as well try to find balance in it. God said when he looked upon Adam "it is not good for man to be alone".

No one can read this book, without finding in it his own portrait truly and correctly drawn to the life. Many have been the hearers of the word in its public ministration, who have been astonished that a faithful minister has not only opened their outward conduct, but the inward recesses of their hearts — and have inquired with wonder, 'Where could he get such knowledge of my heart?' The usages and feelings of every part of the human family — the rich and poor — outward professors or openly profane — God fearers or God definers — are displayed in the following pages as accurately as if the author had been present in every family upon earth, and had not only witnessed the conduct of the happy and of the miserable in every grade; but he goes within and unveils that mystery of iniquity the human heart, its secret springs, feelings, and machinations. What mysterious power could this uneducated man have possessed, thus to dive into the most subtle of all secret repositories, the human heart! Could he have left his body at times and his invisible spirit have entered all chambers, as was said of an ancient philosopher, still time would have been too short even to have transiently surveyed outward conduct; and then he could not have entered into the thoughts of others. Reader, the fountain of all hidden things was open to him. Shut up for many years in prison, with the key in his possession which unlocks all the mysteries of earth, and heaven, and hell — he diligently used his time and all was revealed to him. He makes the source of his knowledge no secret, but invites you to search, as he did, this storehouse of things new and old. It was the Bible which unfolded to him all the great events of time and of eternity — all the secret springs of states, and families, and individuals — wondrous book! It made an uneducated artisan wiser than all the philosophers who have been contented with Plato, Aristotle, Pliny, Plutarch, and the most renowned of human writers. Not only is the real state of human nature revealed with unerring truth, as suffering under a cruel malady, strangely diverse in its operations, but all tending to the downward, dark, dreary road to misery temporal and eternal: but it also displays the antidote; an infallible remedy against all the subtilties of this tortuous disease.

So that the great temple could be fulfilled he sat the cornerstone first (and it is no coincidence that this is common practice) makes it is so that the rest of the structure may be built in square but it is common sense that it should be dedicated with the largest of the stones first. I relish the idea of doing two things at once.

They lead step by step from darkness to light. It may be a tempestuous passage in the dim twilight, as it was with him — but it is safe and leads to the fountain of happiness — the source of blessedness — the presence and smiles of God and the being conformed to his image. In proportion as we are thus transformed in our minds, we shall be able to fulfill all our duties and behavior as becometh Christians. We dare not seek to avoid these duties because they are full of anxieties. Blessed are those who know and feel the ties of church fellowship — or the nearer union of husband and wife that type of the mystical union of Christ and his church. Happy are those who piously discharge parental and filial duties, which figure of the relationship which the Almighty, in infinite condescension, owns between him and his fallen but renewed creatures. Vows of celibacy disturb all the order and harmonies of creation, and are fleshly, sensual, and devilish. The unmarried are strangers to those delightful or painful sensibilities which drive the soul to continual converse with God, either in heart-felt praises or for divine assistance to glorify him in the discharge of domestic duties. They, who vow celibacy, fly in the face of the infinitely wise eternal, who said, 'It is not good for man to be alone.'

18 And the Lord God said: It is not good for man to be alone: let us make him a help like unto himself.

Semper Fidelis

And he was never alone again. The reason he was never alone was because the Lord commanded it. When he and Amy were engaged at her confession of Love for him and Christ our Lord they were joined at the spiritual level. She was in Hawaii and on vacation for her senior trip with a bunch of girls and the idea was to get drunk and get laid as much as they could. (you know how 18 year olds are) One night during her trip (not sure if it was before or after the idea) she was on the beach at a Tikki bar and there were all sorts of good looking guys and girls around, that was when she decided that she wanted to be alone for a moment with God. So she walked away from her friends and walked down the beach and sat down. He spoke to her and what she felt was something she described as a load of bricks landing on her head. She saw a vision of him and her living their life together and she repented of her sin against him. He received a phone call from her and she left a message on his machine. (She kept the number handy this is an important lesson on intelligence gathering) She told him to call her back and that it was important. He received the message on his landline (there were no cell phones in this day and age) and he immediately called her back and asked her if she was alright. She told him of her God encounter and he listened intently. She cried a bit but only in between thoughts and she told him she was ready to commit to him for life. She said, "Whatever it takes I want to be with you forever." He cried for joy. He told her he wanted to see her and she said she had just gotten back from a trip and that her parents were not going to be for her leaving again so soon. But he told her she must come and so he bought her a plane ticket and a 10 day stay and she came. She was something that is an asset. Something hard to come by. Bless you if you have love in your life. #2 and #1

Disambiguation of Dr. Jesse's code.

Disambiguation of Dr. Jesse's security and time code was the result of mirrored code that had either a different name, or many known but unnamed names. One of his earliest students broke off from the project and started producing his own code which led to the duplication of the code. Of course Dr. Jesse's code worked and his student's work wreaked havoc. Be careful who you teach. In that day contracts were merely verbal and not written although still binding, but in today's legal system the proper steps can be taken to ensure someone doesn't steal your code; or of course if you are working on the Uncommon Raven project - it's Dr. Jesse and company code. Dr. Jesses had an unfortunate accident and suffered death while he was still working on a delivery system for said code. It is rumored and even believed by many that his delivery was final and many follow that version of the code. He died around the age of 33 and this took place around two millennia ago. His successors were taught what he had taught them and they tried to implement the code to the best of their ability but a couple of their key players were involved in accidents and so the story has gone for the last two thousand years. Then the code of the warrior became prevalent because of the technological revolution. The entire project for government personnel became about what would and could be done to perfect the soldier. During this period the search was on for the most state of the art intelligence both machine and human available. The CIA implemented project MK Ultra - a study and experiment in behaviorism and the code split from one disambiguated state to two disambiguated states. Much behavioral experimentation and study have since been done and the code has been even further altered in disambiguation and misnamed. The code has been refined and exploded all at once resulting in a state of unrest. Both were inaccurate and needed work and so there is the history of the code if you want to know. Dr. Jesse's code was not average and due to the state of the union of his country at the time-not in totality.

The Software:

There are those that do not believe in what is written in the Bible and will minimize anything you repeat out of it. They believe in their heart of hearts that believing in the Bible is delusional and I want to take this opportunity to explain the Bible in short. It is written in Metaphor and storie (intentional ie.) telling with some of history being mixed in with it. Some parts are to be taken as practical and some as word for word like the parts that are history and mixed in those parts are esoteric language and examples to learn from. Of course the Bible is too complex and lengthy to explain it all in a short explanation and to do it would require writing a book. "The software" is what I call the human spirit in all ways functional and of course software is nothing more than code that runs in sequence on a program on an operating system and on a machine. When it runs in error which is what the great argument is about it shows up as error code and is then debugged. This is what I was talking about just in the above. This is what software is in function and form. There are those that believe the “software” up until the last few centuries has been infected and tainted by the what is believed to be error and believed to be delusional beliefs based on readings and the total understanding of articles in the Bible. Mind you no two people are the same and I am not stereotyping anyone - just stating facts. Since the dawn of computers and especially Windows there has been even more hype about software because now software means two types, the human nature and the type that runs on a hard drive of a computer. Humans have a hard drive, it is their brain. All of this is Masonry. And it gets more complex the higher up the rung you get. But in nature of operation it is simple. Simple explanations for complex arguments. It is a definition of something usually or of several things put together in a pragmatic practical way. Usually the answer contains some explanation of the spirit which is only recognized by some but I tell you this - I will not be refuted. I will find a way.

The System:

Use law to your advantage. Don't go down without a fight. Never confess. The system is a corrupt dragon monster as bad as a meth monster or a crack-head that will kill you if you let it. Its job and sole purpose is not to understand growth and learning but to punish and therefore bypass all reason, even though all members of it will tell you how logical and rational the law id is. Study the law and learn it well because no one will give you a chance to teach it to you until you are and remain an adult and that is if you are deemed privileged. I have worked in the system and worked against the system and it has only caused me trials and tribulations. The way is through the middle just missing all vital organs and severing ties. Don't trust police officers they are not your friends. They serve only one master and it is not who they think it is (Satan).

LaVey was a criminologist. They do not lose any sleep over you. I love the system of the Lord and of the Constitution but people of late are not defending it like they are sworn to. Trust no one. I am a witness / faithful and true. And I have seen the Ghost of Christ in my dreams. He is the only one you should be concerned with. I do not mean to undermine any authority that has the right to be but question those who say they are the authority because they have shown me differently. They have bitten me like a mad dog and I am not the only one who they have bitten. They have had their way with many. They worship the devil I tell you. And so does Albert Pike. I am not so sure about all in essence, because there are still a few good patriots left. I know much about the man turned upside down.

The Idea:

Letting it get in your head and learning is not about letting it rent space or occupy you but then again it is because it is supposed to envelope you and be sealed like one. If you are a leader you will see an example and reproduce it even better with more options but if you are a follower you will reject teaching and come up with banter. A package with rush delivery to the man - You and yours truly. It is supposed to make your chi not break it. When you are alone you are not alone so when you are alone and you want to maximize think of the way that your spirit lives in you and is you and is Christ or of God and become that. Be. One. One way - one path. Become Gods child and do not think of all of you as a child - only the dearest parts/ the parts you must hide away as not to let them be tainted by influence. You are and are not an adult from a very young age of wisdom but because you are reborn you are very much an infant even in your old age. It is all very much a dualistic process. You see your subconscious is very old and you are 1 part old as an adult of the age and should not be lied to but just until you can understand the way. Only if you are not able. It is taught and received - not learned easily without instruction/ someone who is not taught is deficient in the way. I can teach you the more excellent of the two ways. And all you have to do is ask me to help/ no need to beg God for he is my teacher. He needs only to know you are with him as he is with you. He will do anything for you and I mean anything. Even things that man who created him doesn't agree with he will do. Because no one gives him orders unless they are requests/ giving an order to the subconscious is like negotiating with the server for online time. You may not have to wait long if you have political pull/ I mean if your line is big enough. I have a funny way of describing my mental state. (Attention Deficit Disorder combined with relatively high intelligence) I have a T-5 line (biological) and it is the largest line you can get/ after installation of a T-5 it is just bundled and there are inter-wires that run like capillaries throughout the bundle because it is an artificial living thing. It's about Mom and Dad teaching tricks not turning tricks. Trying to trick you like a police officer does. Do not treat your spouse or your loved ones this way unless they turn on you. Sometimes people you love turn on you and you have to protect yourself.

Memories:

I have memories both that are not my own and very much my own. Memories of deaths I've never lived / at least not in this lifetime. I remember places I've never been to / at least not in this lifetime. I am able to transcend death and life completely. I remember the cross, and feeling the passing moment of Jesse when he died and passed from this world to the next. I tried to tell someone once about it and they freaked. So I will never tell anyone about it again aloud. It isn't something I remember on a daily basis just something I experienced once when I was in peril. It was traumatic at the least of reasoning. They say he is clothed in a white robe that is covered in blood. I think he just might not be the same man as what the Bible says he was like. Being betrayed and murdered is not something that is forgotten / forgiven is not forgotten. You don't forget unless you are under a spell of a witch. You might not believe in witches but they are and can be very real.

Just like $4 = 1$ AND $1 = 4$ there are other numbers with dual symbolical meaning. 5 also = 2 AND $2 = 5$ as does $6 = 2$ & 3 and $7 = 2$ and the colors white and red JUST LIKE 5. AND 2 IS RED AND WHITE. These are lexers, or lexicographical analysis.

David was the rider of the first white horse bow in hand (synonymous to BO) something we don't want to know about but something that is and is not. The stars in December showed us the way home or pointed to a major happening. Most people just ignored it because nothing extreme fell from the sky or no voice boomed from the heavens. People need their hands held. It was extreme - something that happens every 25,000 years but nevertheless no one paid any attention to it as a sign of the end times, the end times just being a series of events that lead to the beginning of something else that starts from anew. You mention the end and everyone mocks you. I know but will not say in totality what I believe. What I believe is and is not. That is code for kiss Amy. I don't mind if you do. This little bit on Masonry is just a taste of what I know. Cheers

In Closing

After Michael was serving well into his probation sentence, Michael heard a knock at his door. It was Marcus and a friend of his who is now named Roy. They were spun and they were freaked out and they asked Michael to come with them because they were scared. Michael got up and went with and he drove because they were intoxicated. What he heard was a legend about a man named Corey Legg and how the man was the protector of the law and how he was not a man to be messed with because he was a bad mutha and how the heat was coming down soon. They were trying to tell him something in passing sent by the very man who they were talking about. They were delusional and hallucinating badly. After some time together and after Michael had taken his stimulant medication so that he could work on them they started to come down. Michael insisted that Marcus come to his house to stay the night. Marcus was a wreck and had been into it heavy but Michael saw something in him he had not seen before which was willingness to communicate. Michael had already dosed himself with the proper amount of Adderall and wasn't going to be sleeping that night so he decided to sit up with Marcus until he fell asleep. Marcus went into a spiritual state of mind;

a state of repentance for his wrongdoings and drug abuse. He started saying Cory Legg is coming and that Michael would soon see him. Michael calmly replied and with great confidence that they were the only two there in the room and that there wasn't going to be anyone crashing their meeting no matter who it was. Michael had made arrangements. Marcus said to Michael, "I finally see what it is you have been driving in my head about Christ and I see him right there." Michael said, "point to where you see him Marcus!" Marcus pointed at the blacked out television screen and Michael looked where he was pointing. What he saw was a reflection of himself in the shadow of the backlit kitchen him sitting in his chair, and Michael said no Marcus I am just the messenger, and Marcus said I don't believe you. Then Marcus went to the window and it was foggy outside where he looked out the window and he said people were coming in a large crowd to see Jesus and Michael went to the window and said I don't see them. Marcus looked at him and wept. He went back and sat on the edge of the couch and said to Michael, "How do I go on from this point?" Michael took him by the hand and said, "I will walk with you one day at a time. Go to church Sunday, repent and be baptized and sin no more. Apologize to God for your blaspheme and live clean." And he went to church at the church of ours and he was made perfect through grace promised by the promise.
